Senate Leaders Agree to House Tax Probe Plan

Ready to Accept Compromise in Order to Speed Action

BAN ON PUBLICITY
Treasury Officials Want States to Join in Program

Washington—(U)—Senate leaders decided today to accept the compromise resolution passed by the house for a congressional investigation of tax evasion and avoidance. The decision was made so as to speed start of the inquiry next week.

After conferring with other leaders and treasury officials, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee said he would move tomorrow that the senate concur in the amendments added by the house to the senate resolution proposing the investigation.

The house amendments restricted publicity to be given the inquiry. The senate had voted for almost unrestricted authority to publish income tax returns.

If the motion to concur is agreed to, the committee ought to get to work next week," Harrison said.

As soon as the joint committee is set up it probably will meet to organize and then call hearings.

Will Present Names
Secretary Mendenhall and Undersecretary Magill will be called to present the names of those involved in the cases mentioned in President Roosevelt's message on tax evasion.

Those named will be given an opportunity to appear and defend themselves.

Treasury officials said today states would have to join the federal government tax program if millions in revenue now lost through exemptions are to be channeled into public treasury.

President Roosevelt told his press conference he always had favored removing income tax exemptions which are granted federal and state employees. He said he believed income from securities now exempt should be taxed.

Two other developments helped make taxation a major topic of capital discussion:

1. The house approved a resolution for an inquiry into tax dodging, but voted to restrict publicity.

2. United States Chamber of Commerce officials predicted business spokesmen would seek modification of the new undistributed profits tax.

The president, discussing the removal of exemptions, said a constitutional amendment probably would be necessary. The states might ratify it and they might not, he added.

Would Increase Rates
Treasury officials reported the government could make its future security issues taxable simply by enactment of a law. They added, however, that unless all states and political subdivisions took similar action, interest rates on federal obligations would rise to exorbitant levels.

Commerce department figures showed about $58,000,000,000 of exempt securities are outstanding. If these yielded an average of 4 per cent, removal of all present exemptions would subject about $2,320,000,000 to income taxation.

Less revenue would be realized, treasury officials said, from removal of tax exemptions on state and federal employees because most of them are in the lower brackets, where low tax rates prevail. One authority estimated receipts from that source at less than $100,000,000.

Federal employees now pay only income taxes and state employees none.

No Early Action
If any action is taken on removing these exemptions, informed persons said, it probably will not develop until the tax dodging inquiry is completed.

The house resolution, passed without a record vote, would require the special committee of six senators and six representatives to give approval before confidential information on tax returns could be made public.

Almost unrestricted authority to publish income tax returns was voted by the senate last week after President Roosevelt condemned tax evasion and avoidance. The two versions must be reconciled before the inquiry can start.

An Old Chinese Custom
Making false money is a legitimate business in China. Relatives burn it for the departed, believing it is transformed into spiritual cash for the soul to use in the next world. Free of such superstitions, ambitious folks in this country can concentrate on making real money. One way to do so is by transforming an article no longer wanted into cash through a Want Ad in the Post-Crescent, like this:

BABY BUGGY—Whitney Cab. 623 W. Sixth St.
Received six calls and sold buggy second night the ad appeared.

Hitler Plans For 'Surprise' Speech June 19

Address Expected to Deal With Problem of Germany's Frontiers

MAY AFFECT DANZIG
Recent Mass Troop Movements Add to Speculation in Reich

Marlenwerder, East Prussia, Germany—(U)—The high command of the Nazi party was reported today to have completed plans for a June 19 "surprise Saturday" speech by Adolf Hitler in a Teutonic knights' castle on the frontier of the Free State of Danzig.

The speech, to be preceded by a visit to the Free City of Danzig itself by high German Nazi leaders, will be delivered to the oldest and highest men of national socialism. Probably confidential, it is expected to deal with the problem of Germany's war-created frontiers.

These frontiers separated East Prussia from Germany by creation of a Polish corridor with the free city at its geographical head.

But Nazis now dominate the government of little Danzig, land of Teutonic knight conquest of six centuries ago.

A volume of speculation surrounds the news of the coming of Hitler and coincident reports of recent mass German troop movements.

This speculation covers both Hitler's plans for the future of Danzig, which still has a Nazi-despised League of Nations constitution, and for the future of Germans in nearby Polish upper Silesia.

Reveals Plans
Hitler's speech is to be made from the castle of Marlenburg in East Prussia on the right bank of the Vistula, just across from Danzig.

An indiscreet county Nazi leader first disclosed the "surprise Saturday" coming of the Führer and 600 high Nazis.

Foreign correspondents, despite Hitler's public statement some months ago that "the time for so-called surprises is now ended," remembered that Saturdays have a way of developing big news in Germany.

One theory of foreign observers was that the Nazi regime might be planning some unusual act with reference to Danzig, which is only 50 miles from Marlenwerder.

The Nazis now have about a third majority in the free city's parliament, for the German nationalists have made their peace with the regime and several socialists have deserted their camp and come over to the Nazis.

The Nazis therefore are in a position to throw overboard the constitution of the free state, as approved by the League of Nations, and to convert Danzig into an authoritarian state like the Reich.

Senate Approves Milk Control Bill

Votes Re-Enactment of Present Law After Prolonged Debate

Madison—(U)—The senate voted today, 23 to 9, to re-enact the present fluid milk control bill and sent the measure to the assembly.

Passage followed a lengthy debate during which Senators John Cashman (D), Denmark, and Walter Ruesch (D), Neillville, directed a biting attack against the department of agriculture and market.

The proposed re-enactment would give the department the right to set up a regulated market in any city, establishing prices if it so deemed necessary. The bill calls for a $10 annual license for milk dealers and a check-off of 1 cent per hundred pounds from the amount paid the producer, to pay expenses of enforcement.

Cashman, frequent critics of the department, repeated his recent accusations that the commissioners are not interested in the farmers.

"This bill will be no better than those who administer it," Cashman said. "The commissioners are likely the fascist and communist dictators in Europe. It's mighty dangerous to give this almost unlimited power to a department that is not interested in the farmer. It is far better to kill this bill than to have it in the hands of dictators who are just hanging on until the department is reorganized," he said.

Repeat Vote Has Slight Lead at Georgia Polls

Atlanta—(U)—Georgia counted wide majorities for "New Deal" constitutional amendments today, while 900 unreported boxes held the fate of a repeal led in contrast to a referendum won by the drys two years ago.

Overnight tabulations from yesterday's election showed a margin of 8,019 votes for repeal of the state's 22-year-old dry law in an unofficial count of 125,913 ballots from approximately 810 of 1,700 precincts.

Two years ago, May 15, 1935, a similar proposal for repeal led on the morning after the election by 8,164 in a total reported vote of 136,624. Additional returns from the dry rural sections wiped out the majority.

Many of the missing returns from yesterday's referendum were rural areas.

PLANS TO RESIGN

Oshkosh—(U)—Circuit Judge Fred Beglinger, 74, (above), announced today he will resign from the bench Sept. 1. Judge Beglinger, one of the oldest circuit judges in the state, said ill health had forced his decision to retire from the post he has held since 1922.

He practiced law here from 1889 to 1909, was city attorney from 1909 to 1911 and Winnebago county judge from 1911 to 1922. He came to the United States from Switzerland with his parents when he was 2 years old.

Hatten Estate Fight Is Opened In Waupaca Court

Objection Is Raised to Claim of Blood Relatives of Millionaire

Waupaca—The contest for shares in the fortune left by William H. Hatten, millionaire New London lumberman, opened this morning at a hearing on petitions for appointment of administrator in the Waupaca county court of Judge A. M. Scheller, when objection was raised to the claims of blood relatives.

A petition on behalf of persons claiming to be blood relatives of Mr. Hatten, now numbering 17, was presented by Theodore Brazeau, Wisconsin Rapids attorney, and was followed by two petitions on behalf of heirs of David M. and Harriet Woodin, who, the petitioners claim, legally adopted William H. Hatten in 1877.

One of these petitions, presented by Lon J. Lewis, Kansas City, Mo., was on behalf of Willard Brown, one of the Woodin heirs, and was joined to a limited extent with the petition presented by J. G. Hardgrove, Milwaukee attorney, on behalf of the other Woodin heirs.

Outlines Case
The major part of the morning session was occupied by a statement by Hardgrove in which he outlined the evidence he intends to introduce in support of claims that Hatten was the legally adopted son of the Woodins.

Hardgrove said William H. Hatten was born in St. Lawrence county, N. Y., but, with four other children, was taken to Fond du Lac after the death of his mother, William H. was 11 years old at that time.

Holding that the father, Francis Hatten, failed to maintain the family, Hardgrove said the boys were put to work on farms and that sometime between 1867 and 1869, William Hatten went to the David

Abbottford Man Is Head of Grand Lodge

Madison—(U)—Maxwell Jenks of Abbottford was elected grand master of the grand lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Wisconsin today, succeeding Karl Braasch of Sheboygan.

Clarence Hill of Port Washington was elected deputy grand master; George L. Lounsbury, Milwaukee, senior grand warden, and David O. Stine, Reedsburg, junior grand warden.

The new grand master announced the following appointments: The Rev. James Kneen, Merrimac; chaplain; George H. Keenan, Madison; lecturer; George Leitch, Wausau; senior deacon; Louis Potter, Racine; junior deacon; W. H. Johnston, Portage; and Louis Best, Milwaukee; stewards; Frank M. Meyer, Milwaukee; Marshall M. F. Manley, Sheboygan; pursuivant; Rudolph Zimmerman, Milwaukee; tiler; and George Frost, Stevens Point, sword bearer.

Manitowoc Woman Denies She Killed Her Husband

Manitowoc—(U)—Mrs. Letha Lester, charged with slaying her husband, Earl, pleaded innocent at a preliminary hearing in circuit court yesterday.

Lester, a former tavern proprietress, was shot and killed last February as he returned here by automobile from Green Bay.

District Attorney John Cashman and Edward Meyer, attorney for Mrs. Lester, said they were already to begin the trial Monday.

New Stethoscope Can Determine Exact Location of Sounds Inside Human Body

Atlantic City, N. J.—(U)—The American Medical association voted today against the "state medicine" proposal of the New York Medical society under which federal funds would be used for medical care of the poor. Instead, the association announced it was willing to cooperate with any government or other agency which requests information, investigation, or other medical facilities.

Atlantic City, N. J.—(U)—Expectant fathers can be warned in the future to prepare themselves for one, two or five children, two University of California physicians said today, by use of a new instrument similar to the sound detectors used by the army to locate enemy airplanes.

The instrument is a new stethoscope, called a "symbolophone" by its inventors, Dr. William J. Kerr

Open College Commencement Week Thursday

Formal Inauguration of President Will Mark Activities

TRUSTEES TO MEET
Grandson of Founder of Lawrence Is Baccalaureate Speaker

Commencement week activities will start tomorrow at Lawrence college when the college board of trustees holds its annual meeting in the afternoon at the college library. A board president will be named to succeed the late William H. Hatten, New London.

The conservatory commencement concert will be given at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Formal inauguration of Dr. Thomas N. Barrows as president of the college will take place at 10:30 Friday morning at the chapel. The annual business meeting of Phi Beta Kappa will be held at 8:30 Friday morning after a breakfast at Brook hall.

The first session of the annual alumni college will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The trustees' reception for the President and Mrs. Barrows will be held at 4:30 at the library. In the evening the act play "Land of Heart's Desire" will be given and the senior ball will be held.

Class Day Exercises
Senior class day exercises will start activities on Saturday on the main campus. Presentation of student awards will be made at the exercises. The annual meeting of alumni officers and directors at the Institute of Paper Chemistry will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning.

The alumni picnic will be held at noon on the south campus. The second and third alumni college sessions will be held during the afternoon and evening. Class reunions will be held at 6 o'clock in the afternoon along with fraternity and sorority reunions.

Rev. Frederic C. Lawrence, grandson of the founder of Lawrence college, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the chapel.

President's Reception
The president's reception to seniors and their relatives friends of the college, faculty, trustees and alumni will be held at his home at 2:30 in the afternoon. La Vahn Maessle will be in charge of the concert at 8:20 in the evening at the chapel.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, University of Chicago physiologist, will deliver the commencement address at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the chapel.

The academic procession begins at Main hall, crosses the campus to Memorial chapel, where the inaugural, baccalaureate and commencement ceremonies will be held on June 11, 12 and 13 respectively. The commencement will mark the observance of the twentieth anniversary of the college's founding.

Parisian New Head of Rotary International

Nice, France—(U)—Maurice Duperrey, president of the Rotary club of Paris, was elected president of Rotary International today.

He will preside over the twentieth annual convention of the order, which will be held next year in San Francisco.

Duperrey is a world traveler, well known in the United States. He is 59 years old, a native Parisian, and the founder of an important chemical products industry.

J. A. Coyne of Nashville, Tenn., explained the development of a will through Rotary institutes' studies of world problems at Nashville, Syracuse, N. Y., Beloit Wis., and in Ohio, Arkansas and Illinois.

Manitowoc Woman Denies She Killed Her Husband

Manitowoc—(U)—Mrs. Letha Lester, charged with slaying her husband, Earl, pleaded innocent at a preliminary hearing in circuit court yesterday.

Lester, a former tavern proprietress, was shot and killed last February as he returned here by automobile from Green Bay.

District Attorney John Cashman and Edward Meyer, attorney for Mrs. Lester, said they were already to begin the trial Monday.

Low-Cost Housing Bill Advanced in Assembly

Madison—(U)—The assembly ordered to third reading today a bill permitting cities of the first, second and third classes to go into the low-cost housing business.

While the measure was approved tentatively on a test roll call, the house rejected a motion by assemblyman Ben Rubin (D), Milwaukee, the author, to place it on final passage.

The bill authorized creation of local housing authorities with the consent of the city council and permits the authority to issue bonds to finance their projects.

It provides specifically that rentals or leases can be granted only to persons of low income, excluding those persons whose annual earnings are five times the amount of rental fixed by the authorities.

Each authority would consist of a commission of five members, who would have power to accept federal money.

Child Suffers Broken Back in Auto Accident
Stevens Point, Wis.—(U)—Harley Parks, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parks who reside at Meehan, near here, suffered a broken back Monday when run over by one of the wheels of his father's car at the Parks farm. The child was on the running board and was not seen by his father when he backed up the car. Mr. Parks turned the front wheels in backing and one of them passed over the little boy. The child was brought to the local hospital Tuesday where a body cast was placed this morning after it was ascertained that one vertebrae was fractured.

Strike Cuts Electric Service in Michigan; Steel Parley Called

Ohio Governor Summons Leaders to Joint Conference WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Union to Resist Attempt To Reopen Monroe, Mich., Plant

Youngstown, Ohio—Governor Martin L. David of Ohio today called company and union representatives in the seven-state steel strike to a joint conference as strikers at a Republic steel Corp. subsidiary in Monroe, Mich., mapped their strategy for resisting an attempt to reopen the plant there.

Governor Davey invited Tom Gardier, chairman of Republic, and Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. to a joint conference Friday with John Owens, Ohio strike leader, and Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee. Inland Steel Corp., the third independent producer involved in the strike, has no Ohio plants and was not included in the proposed conference.

Murray wired Governor Davey that he and Owens would attend the Friday conference.

Governor Davey previously had discussed the strike privately with representatives of Republic and Youngstown and, in another conference with S. W. O. C. leaders.

Tense Situation
The peace move was almost overshadowed, however, by the tense situation at Monroe where New Steel Co. strikers claimed that between 8,000 and 10,000 C. I. O. members in Detroit would help in their effort to keep the steel mill closed tomorrow.

Mayor Daniel A. Knaggs of Monroe asked civilians with military experience to enlist in the effort to re-open the plant. From the S. W. O. C. supporters came the cry: "Hold that picket line."

Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan denied Mayor Knaggs the use of national guard troops or state police. The governor said the state would not "take sides" in the strike.

At Chicago S. W. O. C. leaders drafted a formal complaint accusing

Merchant Marine Funds are Urged

Administration Favors Subsidized Fleet of 95 Vessels

Washington—(U)—The administration asked today for a new, subsidized fleet of 95 passenger and cargo vessels to build up America's lagging merchant marine.

President Roosevelt recommended that congress provide $100,000,000 to start construction at once, and authorize the maritime commission to contract $150,000,000 in construction contracts next year.

"For us, an adequate merchant marine has to be a new merchant marine," the president said.

Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the maritime commission promptly outlined a program for constructing 60 cargo vessels, 24 passenger-cargo ships, 10 high-speed tankers and a big liner to replace the Leviathan.

Private companies are ready to build 28 ships in the next 18 months to three years, Kennedy said. Other vessels could be built either by the government for leasing or by private companies.

If congress accepts the program, it would give effect to the newly-approved policy of direct subsidies for shipping as contrasted with previous indirect subsidies through ocean mail contracts.

"The new maritime commission is empowered to grant subsidies to make up the difference between the cost of building ships abroad and in the United States. It also can grant operating subsidies to American companies."

Inquest Resumed in Fatal Shooting Case

Soldiers Grove, Wis.—(U)—Crawford county authorities this afternoon were to resume their inquest into the slaying last Friday night of Mildred Louise Best, 11.

Initial testimony at the inquest was presented Monday afternoon, but proceedings were postponed after six witnesses had taken the stand so that further investigation could be made.

Outstanding evidence of this afternoon's proceedings will be the report of Prof. J. H. Matthews, University of Wisconsin ballistics expert, concerning the bullet killing the girl, and a .22 calibre rifle found in her room.

Since discovery of the crime, Crawford county authorities have been holding without charge at Prairie du Chien, county seat, the girl's brother, Harold, 15. The boy is alleged to have made two confessions, both subsequently repudiated, that he shot and killed his sister after frequent quarrels at the farm home of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Shaw.

Illinois Tax Body Ex-Chairman Guilty On Federal Charges

Chicago—(U)—William H. Malone, 59, former chairman of the Illinois Tax commission, faced a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and $20,000 in fines today after his conviction on charges of evading payment of $39,500 federal income taxes.

A jury in Federal Judge William H. Holly's court returned the verdict last night after deliberating one hour and 24 minutes.

The conviction climaxed a seven years' investigation of the former tax commissioner's financial affairs. The indictment, returned in October, 1933, charged willful evasion of taxes on $330,000 of concealed income in 1929 and 1930.

Judge Holly set June 26 for arguments on motion for a new trial, and allowed Malone to remain at liberty on $25,000 bond.

Each of two counts on which Malone was convicted carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. One count was for evasions in 1929, the other for 1930.

Chain Slips Off Stone and Kills Deer Creek Man

Daughter Finds Body of Farmer Beneath Tractor on Farm

Bruno Buchholz, 55, town of Deer Creek farmer, was killed about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when a chain slipped off a large rock he was attempting to move with a tractor and struck him in the back of the head.

The tractor ran over a barn embankment near which he was working and the body was found under the rear axle of the machine. Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, Outagamie county coroner, said, however, that he did not believe that the tractor ran over the man's body.

The body was discovered by a daughter, Miss Myra Buchholz, about 5:30. An investigation was made by the coroner, District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr and Under Sheriff Fred Frank but no inquest will be held.

Farmed in West
Mr. Buchholz was born Jan. 12, 1882, in Stewartville, Minn., and operated farms there and in North Dakota before coming to the town of Deer Creek in 1921. His farm is located about four miles northeast of Bear Creek.

Survivors include the widow; two sons, Bruno, Jr., Milwaukee; Ordway, Deer Creek; two daughters, Myra and Mrs. Paul Brennenstuhl, Deer Creek; six brothers, Paul, Portland, Ore.; Reinhold, Bowman, N. D.; Albert, Williston, N. D.; August, Hugo and William, Stewartville; three sisters, Mrs. Charles Guenther and Miss Olga Buchholz, Stewartville; Mrs. Herman Badke, San Bernardino, Calif.; one grandchild.

The Rev. E. T. Stubenvoll will conduct funeral services at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence and burial will be in the Graceland cemetery at Clintonville.

Over 300,000 in Saginaw Valley Affected by Walkout SETTLEMENT SEEN

Lewis Says in Washington Agreement Has Been Made

Flint, Mich.—(U)—More than 300,000 residents of the Saginaw valley affected by a strike of Consumers Power company employees remained without electric service today despite announcement by John L. Lewis in Washington that a settlement had been reached.

The strikers indicated service would not be fully restored until their negotiations committee returns from Washington to report the terms of settlement. That will not be until late afternoon.

There was only a partial restoration of service in Flint, where switches were thrown at 1:27 a. m. (C. S. T.) darkening the city and signalling the start of the second power strike in three weeks.

Bay City, Midland and numerous smaller communities in the 13 counties of the Saginaw valley still were without service at 9:30 a. m. (C. S. T.). An estimated 60,000 workers were idle.

Saginaw Plants Open
Saginaw's 85,000 residents were only slightly affected, apparently because of the intervention of Walter B. Saxton, organizer for the United Automobile Workers, General Motors Corp. plants there were operating.

L. C. Oberhauser, superintendent of the Consumers Power company's giant power plant at Zilwaukee, between Saginaw and Bay City, said the power load there had been reduced 80 per cent. That is the principal source of electricity

Labor Relations Studied at U. S. Chamber Meeting

John H. Neller Reports on Conference at Rotary Meeting

That the relation of management and labor is now, and will henceforth be, on a new basis, was the general opinion of those present at the twenty-fifth anniversary conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was reported by John H. Neller, head of the Appleton chamber, in a report to the Rotary club and guests at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon.

Neller, as national councilor representing the Appleton organization, and Kenneth Corbett, secretary, participated in the Washington meeting.

Unquestionably the subject which commanded the most general interest and which most directly concerned those who attended the conference was the matter of employee-employer relations. Mr. Neller said, "Sit-down strikes and the momentous decision of the supreme court upholding the constitutionality of the Wagner Labor act had spotlighted this throughout the nation."

The majority who attended the convention were either employers or were closely associated with organizations employing labor, and so had intimate knowledge of or actual contact with the labor unrest gripping and paralyzing production and trade. Such came to the conference seeking some helpful answer to this serious problem and ready too to contribute from experience toward finding some practical solution. If a solution was too much to count upon, then perhaps to learn the course which, for the present at least, it would be wisest to follow.

Has Right to Bargain

"It was, I believe, the general opinion of those present that the relation of management and labor is now and will henceforth, be on a new basis. Hereafter, in the conduct of a business, in matters where labor feels its interests are concerned, labor will have the right to sit at the council table as an equal and bargain through its selected representative. This will mean a radically new procedure in many business organizations heretofore such organizations have very generally proceeded upon the basis that management had the final and practically unrestricted right to say how its business would be operated. It appears now that labor and government must enter as negotiating parties and must be heard. The trend in management and labor relations will be definitely in the direction of establishing a cooperating partnership and away from the master and servant basis. It is true that the Wagner Labor Act pertains to business engaged in interstate commerce but every employer readily anticipates that intra state business will soon be subjected to like requirements. Wisconsin already has such a law and an already established and functioning labor board.

"Will the adjustment of labor disputes find a satisfactory answer through the medium and operation of the Wagner Act? The employers' answer to this, as voiced at the conference was, as the law is now written, emphatically, no. But employers will accept the decision of the supreme court as to the constitutionality of the act and will proceed under it. But the inequities are clearly recognized and it is foreseen that confidence and cooperation cannot effectively or securely be established if mutual rights and responsibilities are disregarded. This situation was very clearly set forth by Mr. James W. Hook, president of the Commerce Tool company of New Haven, Conn. In his address 'Management Relation with Employees'—spoke in part as follows:

No Employee Penalties

"The trouble with the Wagner Bill is the fact that it assumes that the employer in every case is not only as strong and able a bargainer as the majority of his employees, but also, as his employees and the federal government combined. Mr. Neller quoted Hook as saying, 'It defines the rights of employees, but provides no penalties if they are exercised. It prescribes penalties for employers for not recognizing their employee rights, but omits giving the employers any rights for themselves. Such an act cannot long stand. Ultimately, it must be amended so as to penalize excesses on both sides. Employees cannot be given the right to bargain collectively and at the same time be permitted to hold the threat of economic death over the employer. Bargaining is no longer such if the free exercise of the will of any one of the bargaining is thwarted by fear or threat of reprisals.

"The importance, however, of finding some means to mitigate the labor unrest that is gripping the nation today cannot be overestimated. It contains the virus of national destruction. Those who would inflame for personal power or political gain are pulling down the house about their heads as well as the heads of the rest of us. The time has come for wise counsel, fair laws and inspiring leadership. Indecision and delay in high places cannot go on indefinitely. Industry, labor and the federal government must take common issue with the problems. They must invoke their highest moral attributes to solve it. They must solve it."

May Point Way

"The Wagner act may point the way. By judicious handling it could, no doubt, be made to blossom into a definite labor policy, fair alike to employer and employee. To bring this about is a matter itself of bargaining. Labor must be brought to see that passive acceptance by employers of a one-sided act does not make for peace but industrial war. It must join with employers in a conscientious effort to re-write the act in the public interest, making it fair to each side and rendering both sides responsible."

LEWIS GETS WORD OF PRAISE

This unusual angle picture shows John L. Lewis, C.I.O. chief, being congratulated by Rep. Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia, as he completed his testimony before the joint committee of Congress studying the wage-hour bill. Ramspeck is a member of the committee.

The one-sidedness of the act was justified by Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, at Washington, in his address "Labor Relations in Industry." Mr. Neller reported.

"Let us not forget," Mr. McGrady said, "that at the time the Wagner act was written the attitude of at least some management, as to the particular subjects it addressed seemed to be that while there were plenty of duties on the part of labor and rights on the part of management, the reverse of that did not exist."

"In other words, the Wagner act invaded a field so one-sided in its practical application that its principal concern was to strike a new balance and rectify a condition unfair on the other side. Perhaps the whole background has now been changed, but in these great fundamental changes we must remember that Rome wasn't built in a day."

No Real Experience

"There has been no real experience with the Wagner act, and that, permit me to say, was not the fault of labor. It was the fault of management and the lower courts. In almost every conceivable circumstance the lawyers moved in on that law with the result that the law was scarcely dry before the National Labor Relations Board was paralyzed by injunctions from the federal courts. It remained paralyzed until by the recent decision of the supreme court in the Jones and Laughlin, Associated Press and other related cases it was restored to the potency with which congress had baptized it. Let's get a little experience with the new dispensation before we begin to write new laws."

As to the basis upon which we should proceed to gain the experience Mr. McGrady pleads for, certain fundamental rules of the game of necessity should prevail, Mr. Neller said. A statement of such rules of the game was set before the conference by P. W. Litchfield, president of the Gooden Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O.

Mr. Neller quoted Litchfield as suggesting a workable plan based on five principal points: law and order, responsibility of both employers and labor, mutual understanding, facilities for mediation and adequate fact finding.

Quoted Virgil Jordan

Referring to an address by Virgil Jordan, Mr. Neller quoted the president of the National Industries Board as saying, in part:

"The prospects of increased prosperity, full employment, peaceful working relations and higher standards of life and character among the American people depend altogether upon the outlook for enterprise. Will the State destroy the enterprise principle? Will business management defend, strengthen and improve its operation in American life and work?"

"This is the question that underlies all the particular political and economic issues of our day. This is the eleventh hour of enterprise in America. Its fate is in the hands of the State and of business management."

"Enterprise is the vital principle underlying the accomplishment and the character of the American people. It has made America the strongest and most prosperous nation the world has ever known, in any terms of comparison you may choose. The expression of the enterprise principle in their life, work and political institutions has made America an unparalleled adventure in human progress under freedom. What is it, and what does it demand of us?"

"The enterprise principle implies that the individual shall be free to work at any occupation, to save his earnings, to acquire and own property, to enter any business, to invest his savings in any endeavor, to free to exercise his services and savings, and to employ those others, in order to advance his own prosperity and security. It implies that he shall be free to do these things on his own judgment, on his own terms, on his own responsibility and at his own risk. It imposes no limitations upon the use of physical force against other citizens, which he delegates to government in order to preserve public order, to assure personal safety and protect the lawful possession of property."

Pointing to the dangers of permitting government to become the State, something separate from and superior to the people, Mr. Jordan

Miss Achtenhagen Resigns Post at Lawrence College

Accepts Job With Advertising Company in New York

MISS OLGA ACHTENHAGEN, 814 E. Washington St., has resigned her position as associate professor of English at Lawrence college to do editorial work in the travel department of a New York advertising company. Her work to begin in the early fall.

Miss Achtenhagen, who served for two years as head of the English department of Appleton High School, came to Lawrence as an instructor in English in 1926. During the following year, she was made an assistant professor and served as acting head of the department. During the years that journalism was part of the college curriculum she taught all the courses offered in that field, and since that time has taught the advanced writing courses.

Her own poems and articles have appeared in the following magazines: New York Times, Atlantic Monthly, Ladies' Home Journal, Educational Review, English Journal, Education, Elementary School Journal, Elementary English, Review, Oracle, Oracle Anthology of Verse, American Poetry Magazine, Footprints, Bazaar, Contemporary Verse, Expression, American Foreign Service Journal, American Women Poets, Foreign Travel, and Spur. She is listed in "Who's Who for American Women."

Gives Lectures

She has lectured extensively in Wisconsin and Illinois before literary and study clubs, business and professional groups, and has given a series of radio lectures for the college.

Miss Achtenhagen, who is known nationally for her work as a sorority officer, served six years as national editor of Kappa Delta and four years as national president. At present she is personnel director of the sorority, fourth largest social sorority in this country. Her activities on the Lawrence campus have included program chairman of Campus club, member of the faculty committee on women's athletics and of the committee on fraternities, faculty adviser to Mortar Board, Ariel board, and sponsor of Ships, poetry magazine. For several years she was sponsor of the college group of the Congregational church. She is a member of Mortar Board and an honorary member of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalistic fraternity.

Visits Europe

She has spent the last seven summers in Europe, covering more than 3000 miles afoot in the British Isles, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Austria, France, Holland, Italy, and Switzerland. Last summer she studied at Cambridge university in England. She has done research in Italy on the subject of the Madonna in Art, and has a collection of Madonna pictures and statues from all parts of the world. The most unusual being a crystal Madonna about 18 inches high, set in a Florentine carved wood shrine, against a background of blue, with silver stars.

It is expected that her book, "A Penny Holiday," will be published sometime during the coming year. The illustrations are now being done by Claire Black Dallas, Texas, who made the sketches for the wood engravings in England last summer.

Board of Public Works Opens Bids on Tractor

Bids on a light tractor for the street department, a supply of oil and a city owned house at 1321 W. Winnebago street, were opened by the board of public works yesterday afternoon. The illustrations are now being done by Claire Black Dallas, Texas, who made the sketches for the wood engravings in England last summer.

Attorney to File His Findings in Inquiry

Waukesha—(P)—Edward J. Gehl, Hartford attorney appointed to investigate charges Municipal Judge David M. Evans violated the corrupt practices act, said today he had completed his inquiry and that he would file a complaint about July 1. Gehl was appointed by County Judge David W. Agnew May 9 after Harold Orvis, former municipal clerk, complained in a petition that Judge Evans violated the act during his campaign for election.

Drum and Bugle Corps To Play at Sanitorium

Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps of the Onyx Johnson post will present a musical program at the Riverside sanitorium, Little Chute, at 7 o'clock this evening under the direction of Matt Marshall. Arrangements for the program were made by Lawrence Dillon.

RESIGNS POST

Miss Olga Achtenhagen, above, associated professor of English at Lawrence college, has resigned her position to do editorial work in the travel department of a New York advertising company. She will begin work in the fall.

Consumers' Bureau Bill Has Backing Of Badger Labor

Numerous Opponents Attack Measure at Assembly Hearing

Madison—(P)—Organized labor and the Wisconsin Socialist party approved yesterday the Biemiller bill establishing a "consumers' protection bureau" in the state department of agriculture and markets.

Opponents of the measure, appearing before the assembly public welfare committee, included druggists, pharmacists, candy food and drug manufacturers and cosmetic producers. They condemned the proposal as "unscientific" and asked the committee to discard the plan in favor of pending federal protective legislation—namely, the Copeland food and drug bill now in the house of representatives.

The bill, authored by Assemblyman Andrew J. Biemiller (P), Milwaukee, would authorize appointment of a $5,000-a-year director with broad regulatory powers and would prohibit false advertising and adulteration of food, drugs and cosmetics.

Would Check 'Rackets'

Biemiller said "rackets" in the food and drug industries have to be checked. He contended there were the most "vicious types of quackery."

J. F. Friedrich of the Federated Trade Council of Milwaukee—a unit of the American Federation of Labor—and Carl Minkley, state secretary of the Socialist party, joined proponents of the bill. Both declared their organizations favored its "principles."

Herbert L. Mount, Milwaukee, spoke against the plan for the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical association, and warned the committee "prominent manufacturers would rather stay out of Wisconsin than pay millions of dollars in illegal penalties to a one-man bureau."

He said enactment of the law would mean an "abdication of legislative and judicial power."

A Milwaukee druggist, Fred Dohmen, appeared against the bill, arguing the entire drug industry should not be punished because he said, "a few unscrupulous dealers."

Druggists' Stand

"We wholesale druggists don't want to kill off our customers with rotten products," Dohmen declared. "We don't go in for bathtub manufacturing."

William Card, representing the University of Wisconsin Teachers' union, asserted in support of the measure, that congressional amendments had weakened the Copeland bill to the point where "rigid" state regulation became necessary. Walter Bubbert, spokesman for the Milwaukee county committee of the Progressive party, and Frank Ziedler, another Milwaukee Progressive representative, spoke in favor of the measure.

Opposition was registered by Oscar Toebias, Madison, representing the Quaker Oats company; A. A. Kryger, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical association, and Robert Bassett, Green Bay, of the Wisconsin Daily News-paper league.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Jones, 1402 N. Alvin street, spent a few days this week visiting relatives in Milwaukee.

Cooperatives are In Accord With Present Trends

Governor Tells Milk Pool Members to Build Carefully

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—(P)—"Rome was not built in a day," Governor Phil F. LaFollette told the delegates to the sixth annual convention of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk pool, Tuesday afternoon, in advising the organization to build carefully for the future and not be impatient for quick results.

"It is a human trait" to be impatient," the governor said, "but good workmanship which will stand the test of time is not of the hasty type which causes the roof to fall in because the foundation was not firm."

Referring to the rapid growth of the pool, Governor LaFollette said: "Each step forward must be made with care and effort."

Progress of the cooperative movement in Norway, Denmark, and Sweden was discussed by the Wisconsin governor, who made a visit to the Scandinavian countries last year. He declared he was impressed with the result attained by cooperatives in those countries, and pointed out their success was the result of years of effort and education.

Way of Life

"All the Scandinavian countries concede the success of the cooperative idea is founded on the educational system," he said. "Cooperation is not just a way of doing business but is really a way of life."

Governor LaFollette urged the pool to take pride in their achievement and not be depressed by errors or flaws in their plan. "If the movement is basic, it will iron itself out in time," he asserted.

"Basically, the cooperatives are in accord with the trend of the times," the governor said. "You must recognize the physical basic facts and not imitate the English king who commanded the sea to stop the tide."

Governor LaFollette stated he considered the milk pool an important part of Wisconsin's farm life. "We are now living in a world economically dependent on each other. Years ago a man or a family could live within themselves."

World Has Changed

"In the last 50 years the world has changed, and each individual is dependent upon another. We live in a world today where we are bound together by circumstantial environment, whether we like it or not."

For this reason, the governor advised his listeners not to try and interfere with the inevitable, but instead work and cooperate with their neighbors.

"What do you want?" he asked. "A dictatorship or a system that will preserve American ideals, individuality, liberty, and freedom?"

He stated the greatest contribution made to progress by the cooperatives was its work based on individual freedom. After listening to the meeting preceding his address, he stated he could honestly assert the milk pool was a democratic organization.

Beneficial Contests

Governor LaFollette took a healthy 'slam' at the numerous contests now running in newspapers and magazines, offering this or that prize for selecting so-called 'great' men from a list. In contrast, he told the delegates of a contest run in Norway, which attracted 54,000 contestants, and which asked each contestant to write out a new idea that might increase the business of their local consumer-cooperatives.

Discussing the future, Governor LaFollette asserted the present views point to one of the most trying and economical crisis in the human history.

"I am confident, however, American ingenuity will find the way out," he said, and reminded the delegates the pilgrims chose the American way to solve their problems. Pointing out the differences in problems of that time and today, he stated that raw land and free land had vanished, to be replaced by machinery and power.

"A strike or a lock-out today affects the whole country, not just one community," he said.

"The crying need of this age is to learn again 'we are our brother's keeper' and that we should love our neighbor, not just as a religious rule but as an economic rule. The Golden Rule is essential today for our economic salvation," the governor said.

Can't Deny Liberty

Governor LaFollette quoted Lincoln, saying: "This is a world of compensation. No man can deny liberty to others without losing liberty himself."

Complimenting the milk pool on the high quality products manufactured, he stated there was no substitute for quality. He said this was true, both in the manufactured product and in human beings.

"We must learn to recognize merit in business, and in trade associations," he said. He advised pool members to select their representatives carefully and seek managers who had the future of the organization at heart.

He brought cheers from the delegates when he turned to President Harry H. Jack and said: "You have a product that by its quality commands a premium in the market today."

Closing his talk, he predicted an even brighter future for the milk pool and advised the delegates not to be down-hearted if a few mistakes have been made.

Oshkosh—(P)—The Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool took steps today for closer cooperation with the Farmers Equity Union.

The action came in a vote of delegates to the pool's annual convention last night on the question of a working agreement with the union. Terms of the agreement were not announced.

The delegates also voted to transfer the pool's official residence from Oshkosh to Madison. Executive offices, from which the organization's operations are directed, remain here.

Newspaper Guild Out To Double Membership

St. Louis—(P)—Assured of full cooperation of the Committee for Industrial Organization the American Newspaper Guild prepared today for a campaign to double its membership.

The Guild, in its fourth annual convention, here, voted yesterday 113 to 181 to affiliate with the C. I. O. and to admit to membership business circulation, advertising, and other unorganized newspaper workers.

The decision, Guild leaders said, does not in itself mean withdrawal from the American Federation of Labor, which the guild joined less than two years ago. Suspension of the Guild by the federation is expected to follow.

Order Boathouses Moved From City Property at Park

Notice Served on Six Owners by City Clerk Carl Becher

Notices to six owners of boat-houses at Lutz park to remove them from city property have been issued by City Clerk Carl Becher. Removal of the boat-houses in two weeks was ordered by the city council at its last meeting to make way for development of a bathing beach in the Fox river at the park.

The Lutz park committee, named recently by Mayor Goodland to draw up plans for development of the bathing beach, will meet at the city hall at 7 o'clock tonight to study plans.

Opposition to development of the bathing beach may be made by the Appleton Yacht club which at present is using the lagoon, just off the park shore, for yacht anchorage.

Boatmen state they have permission to use the lagoon as a harbor and although not opposed to a bathing beach will act to protect their right to adequate mooring facilities in the natural harbor.

Rural and Urban Areas Continue Fight on Roads

Apportionment of Highway Aides Brings Bitter Battle

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—While the legislature busies itself with other and supposedly more important subjects, the perennial battle between the cities and villages, on the one hand, and the towns and rural areas on the other over the delicate question, apportionment of state highway aids, wages furiously on the sidelines.

Ever since the state legislature loosed the purse strings and inaugurated the highway aid policy some years ago, spokesmen for the respective sides have accused each other of trying to "hog" the appropriations, and each succeeding legislature feels the pressure to change the apportionment in favor of one side or the other.

Lined up against each other this session are the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, representing several hundred cities and villages, and the farm lobbyists and Wisconsin County Boards Association for the rural districts. Both the League and the Association have able legislative counsel, and are tremendously influential in the legislature. Which organization has most friends in the legislative halls the events of the next few weeks will reveal.

Would Change Plan
In the early days of the present session, alert and able league secretary, F. M. McMillin lost no time in introducing a measure which would distribute the present highway fund distribution which the league declares is grossly unfair to the cities and villages.

To support his position, McMillin produced figures compiled by the state tax commission to show that for the last eight years the state has paid 40 per cent of the total highway expenditures of the towns, as compared to 6.4 per cent of the total village highway appropriations and 8.2 per cent for the cities.

The League's bill, now reposing in a committee desk after surviving a preliminary assault by rural assemblymen several months ago, would, so says the League, provide an equitable apportionment as follows: towns 50 per cent, villages 19.8 per cent, and cities 18.3 per cent of total highway expenditures.

Little Benefit
McMillin said the cities have received little benefit from the $26,- 000,000 of federal highway money spend in the state in the last few years. To McMillin it "seems only reasonable that some consideration now be given to reducing the property taxes now levied for local roads and streets. In cities and villages the property tax payer has been paying more than 90 per cent of the cost of the streets, a city budget item second only to local education costs, according to McMillin.

Disagreeing sharply are the farm lobbyists, headed by militant farmer Paul Weis of the farmers' joint legislative committee. Last week Weis published a sharply worded reply to the league's demand, asserting that towns had never had sufficient funds to maintain their roads in a passable condition; that many of them are usable now only because of farmers' volunteer contributions of time, labor and money; that farmers are paying the increase in gasoline and motor vehicle license revenues although they buy their gasoline in the cities.

Aided Cities
He added "that cities would long ago have died of dry rot if it hadn't been for the town roads which brought the entire population from outside to the cities to leave their hard-earned money in exchange for city made goods and giving city people a chance for rainfall employment which they otherwise could not find."

Farmers demand, said Weis, "a more equitable construction fund for town roads than they have had in the past."

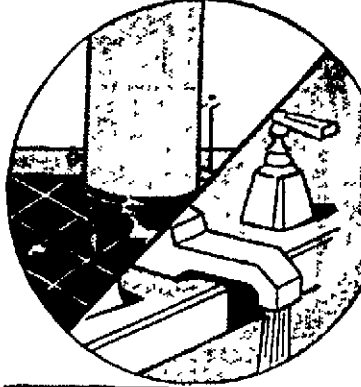

Weis scored cities for their complaint about high taxes, which are double, according to Mr. McMillin, the taxes in the towns. That higher tax rate, said Weis, is the result of greater city conveniences, "conveniences of which the farmer can only dream and the city people demand and enjoy, but apparently hate to pay for."

Thus the battle goes on. How it will end only the legislature knows. And the legislature isn't saying, at least not yet.

Y. M. C. A. Directors To Consider Reports

Routine business will be considered by the Y. M. C. A. board of directors at their regular meeting at 7:30 Thursday evening at the Y. Recommendations of special committees will be discussed. The reports of Homer L. Gebhardt, general secretary, Ray Risch, physical education instructor, and C. C. Bailey, boy's work secretary, also will be considered.

AUDITOR IS HERE
E. C. Fraser, Milwaukee, traveling auditor for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, visited recently at the local office. While here he audited the station accounts.

FAT?

Lose 5 lbs. a week Safely or No Pay

If you are overweight and flabby, you can lose weight amazingly easy. There is no need to punish yourself with backbreaking exercise—no need to starve yourself and deny your body the foods you need for health.

REDUCE by this DRUGLESS method

Thousands of women are getting back to normal weight easily and quickly by using WATE-OFF, a harmless food compound (no salts, no diuretics, no drugs, no harmful laxatives). WATE-OFF is composed of vegetable and herbal ingredients that neutralize the body acids—thus preventing accumulation of fat. The instructions say: Take WATE-OFF before meals, then eat your hearty fill. "Results," users say, "are simply amazing." A tablet taken 4 times a day will cause unsightly pounds to melt away like magic—leaving no sallow, flabby or broken-down tissue.

You've seen WATE-OFF advertised in Pictorial Review, Physical Culture and other leading magazines at $2.45 per treatment. Here now is your opportunity to purchase this same full size treatment for only $1.19. Furthermore, if you are not satisfied with the results, you have the privilege of returning the empty carton and we will return your money.

2 weeks treatment $1.19

RELIABLE PRESCRIPTIONS

High Blood Pressure can be reduced in many cases and symptoms relieved, says eminent physician

Dr. Frederic Danzau, eminent physician of New York City, says that ALLIMIN Tablets of Garlic Parsley Tablets often help to reduce High Blood Pressure, and that the continued use of these tablets at prescribed intervals helps to keep the blood pressure down "by dilating the peripheral capillaries of the body surface, thus lessening the burden upon the heart." This is only one of the beneficial effects offered by the use of these tablets, says Dr. Danzau. To get the full facts, send your name and address, and an extremely interesting booklet of facts and valuable information will be sent you free. Better still, give ALLIMIN Tablets a trial and learn for yourself how much they may help you. ALLIMIN Tablets are tasteless, odorless and guaranteed free from dangerous drugs of every kind. ## Dr. Rowland Will Talk at National Colloid Meeting

Institute Staff Member Invited to Session at University of Minnesota

Dr. Ben Wright Rowland, research associate at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, will be a member by invitation of the group speaking before the National Colloid
Symposium at the University of Minnesota on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. This will be the fourteenth annual meeting of the group, which is regarded as one of the most important scientific meetings in the field of chemistry.
Dr. Rowland will present a paper on the program under the title,
"Colloid Chemistry in Paper-Making." The paper will deal with types of fundamental investigation in the colloid field such as is undertaken in the study of paper-making by such agencies as the Institute of Paper Chemistry. The chairman of the meetings this year is Dr.
Harry B. Weiser of Rice Institute,
Houston, Texas.

Dr. Herbert, Freundlich, distinguished chemist who was formerly a member of the staff of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, Germany, now at the University of London, England, will be the guest of honor at this year's meetings, and will appear on the program also.

Collected in Book
The colloid meetings are non-technical, purely scientific meetings held each year, only such scientists as are doing outstanding work being invited to appear on the program. The proceedings each year, which include the papers delivered as speeches, are later collected in book form as the "National Colloid Annual."

Issue Account Numbers

To 9,191 Employees

Social security numbers have been issued to 9,191 employees in Appleton since the social security program has been in effect, Stephen D.
Balliet, postmaster, announced this morning. There were 314 numbers issued during May. The 6-month summary report is due after July 1 and after that period, quarterly reports must be filed. A report for each individual also must be filed with the summary report.

Commission to Hear Compensation Cases

Hearings on four cases under the workmen's compensation act are scheduled to be heard by a representative of the Wisconsin Industrial commission in Appleton on Wednesday, June 16, at the city hall.

Cases which will be heard in the morning are George Calomeres versus Diana Sweet shop, 9 o'clock and Orin Henrichs versus Knoke Lumber company, 10 o'clock.

The two cases to be heard in the afternoon are Leo Benotsch versus
J. Benotek Fuel and Supply company, 1:30, and Gustave Neuman, deceased, versus Appleton Marble and Granite works.

Foundation Work For Senior High School Completed

Workmen Erecting Roof
Truss Over Central
Part of Gymnasium

Foundation work for the gymnasium and academic sections of the new senior high school building has been completed and the laying of brick will start soon, according to A.
J. Lytle, architect on the project for the builders and owners.

If the present working conditions continue during the summer, it is expected that the roof and walls of the new building will be completed by September, Mr. Lytle said. The roof truss over the central part of the gymnasium almost is erected and this will be the first above ground work completed.

Work on the project started in March and according to PWA regulations is to be completed in one year. All excavation work has been completed by the Koepke Brothers Construction company, Appleton, and workmen yesterday were constructing forms prior to the pouring of concrete for the auditorium walls.

Concrete basement walls for the gymnasium and academic sections have been completed and footings now are being made for the boiler room in the back part of the building. When completed the gymnasium will be on the south end of the building with the academic section in the center and the auditorium on the north end.

RIP TAKES A SHORT NAP

A modern Rip Van Winkle doesn't sleep twenty years. Twelve months is enough. So a year ago Rip, direct descendant of the hero of Sleepy Hollow, went to sleep and yesterday he awakened.

When he went to sleep Washington was still painting the millennium that would arrive as soon as the Social Security Law, including both old age income and unemployment insurance, was upheld by the supreme court and the Wagner law received the same seal of approval.

Well, Rip woke up yesterday and immediately went through the supreme court files. He found the Administration successful in every encounter. Social security was valid. The Wagner law was approved by all nine justices of the supreme court. Everywhere victory crowned the Administration's efforts.

Rip smiled to himself. It was great to live in a country where the millennium had already arrived, where milk and honey were even fed the children, including farm children, at the expense of the state. Rip stretched his arms wide and filled his empty lungs with refreshing ozone. What a wonderful thing to live in a wonderful age! And under the Great Humanitarian, the man whose heart throbs only for the masses!

Rip picked up the evening paper. Was someone playing a prank on him, had he been made the butt of a practical joker's ridicule? Could these be signs of the millennium he read? He saw the capital of Michigan, population around 100,000, with all doors closed and mobs running the streets. The immediate cause was said to be the arrest of eight pickets. Another court is packed. The mob wins the day.

In the next column he finds that the government mails are denied to certain parts of the population so long as a gentleman now popularly known as $600,000-Jawn does not give his approval. It seems that $600,000-Jawn claims he is responsible for the President or something like that. At any rate the President cannot say him nay.

Rip is a bit concerned. He will turn the page and read something else. But on the next page he finds that men trained as captains of platoons have confessed that they drilled men in advance of the steel riot at Chicago, and other witnesses come forward and testify they had seen these drills going on for several days prior to the riot. In the next column Rip finds that while a court is trying 92 men charged with unlawful conduct in another strike a federal agency known as the National Labor Relations Board moves in, subpoenas the witnesses, and is charged by the judge with attempting to wreck the trial and prevent the orderly processes of law.

Rip reads on. His eyes blur with the unhappy news and maybe with tears of disappointment. For Rip had been a supporter of the Administration. He believed all the honeyed promises. He began at last to think that the more laws of a certain kind that are passed the more disorder is created. And there came across his mind the conviction that when a President or an administration drops its duty to treat all classes of people fairly and squarely and honestly, and joins with any one particular class to the support of which it devotes its power regardless of justice, a great and enduring wrong has been created.

It may be better not to follow Rip any further. Were he to sleep another year, and congress in the meantime wholly abdicate to the White House and the supreme court follow suit, Rip might find a still more disconcerting view upon his awakening. He could paint this view, we think, with a reliable hand but it is preferable to turn over on the other side for a change and seek more pleasant hopes.

THE AMATORY RAMBLINGS OF A MARXIAN

The world still loves a lover, and with the Windors away for the moment may view the idyllic devotion of one nation for another.

For Russia is in love with the Basque Catholics.

It is a touching and tender-hearted story—the burly Ivan, chronically bearded and soiled, weeping great huge tears at the wrongs visited upon the Catholics of the Basque country.

The tears are selfish and cloudy, and the bearded people say they are crocodile.

dile, but they are splashing all over the Continent as the great Moscovite hulk is shaken by heart-rending sobs when it views a church in ruins or a monastery that has been shelled.

History has known great lovers before. There is the story of Venus and Adonis, of Psyche and Eros, and Romeo and Juliet. But now there is another contender for the world title, the love of the Goddess for the Godly, of the church destroyer for the church, of the cleric killer for the cloth, of the nun despoiler for the convent, of the slave driver for liberty, of the polluter for purity. Yes, the great Cossack lunk is hitting the "sawdust trail."

It is a beautiful and a pathetic love full of mercy, charity and humanity, a gentle love, piteous in its heart throbs, glamorous in its long and "passionate glances."

But then, too, there was Bluebeard who had loves and repeated pretty phrases from his bended knee as he kissed milady's hand and swore by moon and stars his ardor was pure and his purpose high.

But there is something in common between the ancient pictures of Bluebeard and the modern pictures of a Bolshevik to bring that ugly and grisly example to mind.

AGAIN THE LIMITATION OF WEALTH

The political proposal by the Northern Baptist convention at Philadelphia to "limit incomes" in the effort "to make possible a living minimum wage for every worker" is fair and sound upon its face.

The prevailing political theory of the Roosevelt Administration that constantly drains the great common pot that holds all the wealth of the nation and forgets to take steps to replenish that pot will ultimately arrive at the point where it has injured the country severely.

The theory of those who believe in the limitation of wealth, and therefore the material limitation of income, must be joined with another theory that makes people work and will not support them in idleness if they are able to work.

The limitation of wealth on the one hand is bound to create among an intelligent and energetic people an increase of opportunity.

But what good does it do to increase opportunity if the government is passing the dipper around all the time and those for whom the opportunity exists won't arouse themselves even if opportunity is almost kicking in the front door.

It is a mistaken notion to think that lawfully created wealth is not always doing some good. It cannot avoid doing good. A man who has 10 million dollars is doing some good with the money even if he merely keeps it on deposit in a bank that loans it out for the various purposes of that community. But that is a relatively negative assistance. Thus used wealth is not being employed to capacity.

The notion that if we put a limitation upon wealth our Edisons will congeal their inventive ingenuity and mumble instead of work, is a baseless attack upon mankind. Human nature is a volatile influence very difficult to handle or control but it is guided just as much by the happiness of accomplishment and the ambition to be doing something worth while and the admiration of creating useful things as it is for mucking gold.

Most men do not crave great or unlimited wealth. When they get it they give it away. Andrew Carnegie, Russell Sage, Julius Rosenwald and the late Rockefeller are merely outstanding examples of those who created great fortunes, yet only retained a comparatively small percentage for themselves and their families.

Men do yearn for security. Up to that point their ambition must be conceded to be praiseworthy and offered every opportunity of development. Public policy may best be served by a reasonable limitation upon wealth and income large enough to lure from men the best that is in them by way of endeavor but limited enough so that the economic structure of the country does not become distorted, power too greatly concentrated in a few hands, or the efforts and ambitions of others effectively stalemated.

YOUR PERMANENT NUMBER

Many business men these days are complaining of government competition and federal curbs on trade, but reports from Chicago reveal that the government, without any intention whatever of doing so, has stimulated one divine industry into a genuine little boom which bids fair to sweep the country. Tattooers report a notable dearth of technological unemployment in their profession. They declare that the social security law has developed so much activity in their line that they are hard put to keep up with the demand. People in all walks of life are joining in this new Numbers Game and the artists in indelible ink are correspondingly happy.

There is something undeniably final and satisfactory about having your social security number impregnated into your epidermis. You can't mislay it, you can't lose it, and if the electric needle has operated upon a part of your anatomy which you can see, you can't forget it. The favorite device seems to be an eagle (undoubtedly a Blue Eagle) flaunting in its beak a scroll on which the number is blazoned. In time, no doubt, other and more intricate designs will be evolved, and many an aged pensioner may be expected to appear before his social security board in all the gorgeous cuticular decoration of a Maori.

Up to this year the art of tattooing has been generally confined to the skins of sailors, stereotypes and side-show freaks, and pinning away even in those restricted fields. Does this sudden demand unfold a future in which America is to become a nation of "tattooed men"—New York Times.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

FOR ANN

Our baby was confirmed today. The youngest one of all! It seemed so very far away— That sacred hour of prayer; But beautiful in her white dress, Serenely sweet and tall. The maker of my happiness Comes softly down the stair.
 Our baby is confirmed at last. God gave her soul to us. To us belongs her lovely past; Her future is her own. Now confirmation seals a seal That makes life glorious. So high and true is youth's ideal Now childhood's years have flown.
 Our baby was confirmed today! It seems so short a time Since she, a baby girl at play, Looked up to meet my smile. And now above each other voice, I hear her sweet tones chime! Her heart is mine—my love her choice— For such a little while. (Copyright, 1937)

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 8, 1927

Germany's veteran president, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, received Chamberlain and Levine at the executive mansion Wednesday and congratulated them on their achievement in spanning the Atlantic by air from New York to Germany.

Sixty children have enrolled in the Daily Vacation Bible school sponsored by First Congregational church which opened Monday and will continue for a month. Miss Mary R. Stevens, pastor's assistant, is director of the school. Miss Ramona Beecher, 716 W. Elsie street, was surprised by 12 girls from the Wisconsin Telephone company at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening. She will be married on June 16 to Eldor Rubbert.

Randall Penhale, pastor of the Methodist church, Menasha, since September, 1926, will make his last address at the church at the weekly social to be held Wednesday evening. Next Sunday Kenneth Newton of Kaukauna will have charge of the services.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 12, 1912

The attendance in the department of liberal arts at Lawrence college is to be limited to 500. It was decided at a meeting of the board of trustees that morning. At present the enrollment is 450 and it is expected the limit will be reached in two years.

John Morris, Oshkosh, was elected as a new member of the board of trustees of Lawrence college that day while the following trustees were re-elected: James A. Wood, George W. Jones and George Baldwin, Appleton; Herbert E. Miles, Racine; Theobald Otten, Milwaukee; George F. Steele, Port Edwards; John Hicks, Oshkosh; and M. A. Wertheimer, Kaukauna.

The annual picnic of the South Greenville Grange will be held at Charles Haase's grove on June 15.

The Misses Irene Reuter and Mamie Schrimpf entertained the previous evening at a farewell party in honor of Miss Gertrude Caze, who will leave Appleton soon for Milwaukee.

Personal Health Talks

 Noted Physician and Author

TOO MUCH VITAMIN D? AW, RATS!

For a period of two years Dr. J. A. Manville, of the University of Oregon Medical School, made daily measurements of the amount of ultraviolet in sunlight in Portland. He found the daily average of ultraviolet irradiation for the first year was 3.2 units, and for the second year 6.2 units. The amount of ultra-violet that reaches the earth depends on the amount of rain, mist, fog, smoke (from forest fire or from industry, or from plants) cloud, dust in the air, and not merely on the total hours of sunshine. There were only 26 percent more total hours of sunshine in Portland the second year of this test.

Between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. the sunshine or even sky-shine if there is no bright sun contains the most ultraviolet light, and so this is the time of day for the baby to bask in the sun, or for any one/else who wishes to get the health-building or curative effect of a sunbath. Of course it is the time of day when sunburn is most likely to occur, too. Sunburn, even the first degree burn (mere reddening or slight inflammation or irritation of the skin without blistering), is uncomfortable and unsightly, and a second degree burn (with blistering) may prove serious or dangerous, but there is always one consolation—it doesn't rob you of any benefit you have already derived from moderate exposure to sunlight.

In view of the fact that the noon-time temperature in Oregon is mild during much of the year, and recalling that exposure of but little of the body to sunlight at intervals of several days has proved sufficient to prevent rickets in young animals, Dr. Manville suggests that proper utilization of the available ultraviolet of sunlight in the vicinity of Portland should prevent rickets in children.

However, Dr. C. Ulysses Moore, Portland child specialist, found physical defects from rickets in a large proportion of 1,000 children examined by himself and his associate, Dr. H. G. Dennis, particularly postural defects. These authorities concluded that it is good routine practice to supplement the diet of the infant or child with a suitable daily ration of vitamin D in order to favor perfect development.

The British Medical Research Council reports that extensive investigations of the problem show that control of tooth decay in children requires several times as much vitamin D as the amount usually considered necessary to prevent rickets in infants.

Just how much vitamin D may be necessary to prevent rickets in a baby, or how much may be necessary to prevent rapid decay of, or faulty development of the teeth in childhood, or how much may be necessary to insure the most nearly perfect physical development in youth and early adolescence, nobody knows.

Some one in a laboratory experiment thought he observed fatal effects from large doses of vitamin D in rats. This questionable observation has been spread upon and broadcast by a "feline" employee who writes for the magazines, no idea seems to be to frighten people about vitamin D. Just for fun I have taken 10,000 units of vitamin D every morning for many months, and I'm still alive and kicking.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Chalk
 You told a reader of some tablets to take in place of soda tablets to counteract excessive acidity, that would be less disturbing to the acid-base balance in the blood. (Miss M. C.)

Answer—Calcium carbonate, chalk, is a more efficient antacid than sodium bicarbonate and has little effect on the acid-base balance. Ten grains will neutralize stomach acidity for hours. Fair dose, ten grains two to three times daily.

Freed From Slavery
 I am very grateful for the advice you gave me about constipation. Have been normal in that respect ever since I began to follow your advice. Never need any kind of laxative aid now. I feel and look much better too. (E. P.)

Answer—Thank you. Glad to send any reader who asks for it and incloses ten cents coin and stamped addressed envelope a copy of the booklet "The Constipation Habit," which teaches how to free yourself from phsyic slavery. (Copyright, 1937)

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"
 If June 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a. m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p. m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a. m., from 6:15 to 8:15 p. m. and from 10:15 p. m. until midnight.

It will be wise not to mull over fancied or real grievances this day, but rise above them. If you do this the chances are the cause of them will be removed. You are moved in an unexpected manner. The housewife, as well as the man engaged in any kind of mechanical work, are apt to find that their hands will get them into a lot of trouble this day, if they permit their thoughts to be diverted while doing work which requires concentration. Gathering places, focal points, and pivotal centers, seemingly will be surrounded by conditions that require close attention to prevent complications . . . due to negligence. This should be an auspicious day for those in the social whirl, and for making neighborly advances. Married and engaged couples, and those with matrimonial thoughts, must avoid being ambiguous, this day in answering an important question.

If a woman and June 10 is your birthday, you have a very changeable disposition. You are capable of doing things with an elegance, simplicity, and without ostentation. You ought to be a good judge of savory dishes, and probably have a sweet tooth, which should not be overindulged. You may speak your mind too freely on occasions, so remember it all ways pays to be tactful. You perhaps sometimes make little or no effort to practice self-control when angered. This is perhaps your most serious mistake. Money seems destined to come your way, and you probably will end up with plenty of it. It would appear your best chances of doing some really brilliant work . . . will be through the medium of the pen, brush, stage, lecture platform or radio radio. You should also have a great deal of selling ability. Married life is likely to prove the channel through which your greatest amount of happiness will flow, and most likely prosperity will come.

The child born on June 10, generally blossoms into an enthusiastic, light-hearted youngster, with plenty of ambition and ability. Its prospects appear to be bright.

If a man and June 10 is your inspiration. Ambition and optimism will be the beacon light by which you will steer a safe course. Law, journalism, medicine, politics, construction, selling, acting or preaching may provide the best field for harvesting a rich reward. Successful People Born on June 10

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—This man Wallace of agriculture, with the shy, corned grin, is foxxy.

He has been talking for a long time about his "Joseph Plan" of crop insurance, to be coupled with crop control and soil conservation legislation in a new agricultural program. But his special baby, the crop insurance plan, is not to the liking of all farmers. They have felt he was perhaps slipping a fast one over them by which they would be compelled eventually to pay their own crop control bills instead of taking it from the treasury. Congress has known the farmers' position all along.

Farmers' Bill

But what was the surprise of congress recently to find the whole program boiled into one bill "by the farmers themselves." The American Farm Bureau federation had put the thing together, the public was told, and the department of agriculture professed to have a hands-off attitude, although being willing to go along.

Wallace and H. R. Tolley, AAA administrator, kissed the thing off as in the hands of the farmers and pointed to Edward A. O'Neal, farm bureau president, as the source of all information about it.

It was a neat trick, but there had been a slip. A day or so before a White House conference farm bureau leaders came to Washington and spent several hours listening to Wallace and Tolley explaining the contents of the legislative draft of the bill, just then being put together.

But farmers talk loud and reporters waiting outside to get a report heard everything.

Shifted Rules
 Wallace and Tolley did the explaining. The farm bureau men who later would take credit were doing all the listening. When the conference broke up, Wallace and Tolley shifted roles, and let the farmers do the talking.

Best information is that the bill was drawn up by attorneys of the agricultural department and the farm bureau.

Not all farmers like the bill. Parity, payments and commodity loans are in great favor. Penalty taxes and quotas set up to prevent the surplus growing too large under the Joseph plan are less popular.

16 Pupils Take Part In Waupaca Recital

Waupaca—The second of the piano recitals given by Miss Marie Haebig was held Tuesday evening in the social hall of St. Mary Magdalen's church and was participated in by 16 of her pupils.

At the close of the recital Miss Haebig announced the names of those who had had perfect attendance through out the year. Kathleen Peterson, Gary Peterson and Betty Carew. The pupils who had a perfect honor roll record, every lesson prepared and excellent were Kathleen Peterson, Betty Carew and Lois Nelson.

New Dealers are Willing to Avoid Payment of Taxes

President, Morgan Agree On Justification, Lawrence Claims

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—It isn't often that President Roosevelt and J. P. Morgan agree on questions of public policy, but, after examining the president's utterances and those of the veteran financier this week, one is forced to the conclusion that their minds are pretty well in agreement on the all-important point, namely, that a man is justified in complying with the letter of the law and avoiding mistakes.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked by the press correspondents for his views on the matter of taxation by the states of the salaries of federal officials, and he said he thought federal employees ought to pay such taxes, but that, because of the precedents of constitutional law, they didn't pay such taxes.

Likewise, the president pointed out that he didn't believe in tax-exempt securities, but here, too, there would have to be a constitutional change in order to get rid of the exemptions. What the president probably had in mind was that states and cities could not be compelled, except by constitutional amendment, to stop issuing securities exempt from federal taxation, but, of course, it doesn't require any constitutional amendment to cause federally issued securities hereafter to eliminate the tax exemption feature.

What the president contends, of course, is that, as long as there is no constitutional amendment forbidding the states to issue tax-exempt securities, the federal government feels compelled to avail itself of tax-exemption as a comparative inducement in the sale of its own bonds.

Affirms Principle
In other words, Mr. Roosevelt affirmed the principle that nobody is compelled to pay taxes that are not set forth in the laws of the land. This is the way J. P. Morgan expressed it in a newspaper interview: "Anybody's justified in doing anything as long as the law doesn't say it's wrong."

Now, if by chance this is an erroneous interpretation of the president's view, either as it relates to the payment of taxes on income from tax-exempt securities held by government officials or as it relates to the payment of taxes to their home states by federal officials on their salaries, then the question really arises from a moral viewpoint.

Should a federal official, in view of the president's pronouncement that it is morally wrong to practice tax avoidance, pay taxes anyhow, even though he knows there's a loophole in constitutional law?

Conscience Fund

Every federal official and every person who holds tax-exempt securities must answer the query for himself. It so happens that there is in the treasury department a certain account known as "the conscience fund." Into it are paid annually thousands of dollars by persons who think they really owe the government something they previously didn't pay.

If President Roosevelt himself feels that federal officials should pay taxes to their state governments, even though they are protected by a loophole in constitutional law from the legal necessity of doing so, he can set an example by offering to pay to the state of New York a tax on his federal salary, or he can pay into the "conscience fund" of the treasury taxes on any tax-free bonds that happen to be a part of the estate from which he derives an income.

There is, however, little likelihood that any such move will be sponsored by the administration, because the truth is that almost everybody inside the New Deal believes in tax avoidance just as much as does J. P. Morgan, and the whole episode is just another example of the hypocrisy which is to be found in the constantly maintained atmosphere of politics in the national capital. Nearly everything hereabouts is considered from the angle of politics. Government-by-headline is the rule rather than the exception and explains many of the presidential utterances that seek the front pages. Thus far, Mr. Roosevelt has proved himself an expert in winning headlines, especially in the interludes and messages intensifying the class warfare that has been precipitated by the use of the taxing power to redistribute wealth, a policy originally sponsored by the late Senator Huey Long of Louisiana.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harsh, less, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. ## Britain Not Ready to Return to Gold Basis

London—(U)—Sir John Simon, new chancellor of the exchequer, Tuesday blasted British hopes of an immediate return to the gold standard.

"I see no need for any new declaration of policy at the present time," said the chancellor, who succeeded the new conservative prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, in the post he answered a question in the house of commons.

Sir John reaffirmed Great Britain's policy of maintaining a flexible price for the pound, regulating its value in relation to foreign currencies through purchases and sales of bullion in London.

Jewish Women Hear About Efforts of Hadassah Sisterhood For Improvements of Conditions in Palestine

BY NELLIE CHAMBERLAIN
THE building up of Palestine as a national home for Jews and the contribution which Hadassah, National Jewish Women's society has made to the improvement of conditions there were discussed by Mrs. Harry Berkman, Chicago, chairman of the mid-west region and a member of the national board of Hadassah, in a talk at the annual luncheon of Appleton chapter of Hadassah Tuesday afternoon at Conway hotel.

Speaking of a visit which she made to Palestine two years ago, Mrs. Berkman said that the people of that place live simply and are contented. She described the various parts of Palestine, namely, the city, small town and colony, and spoke of the city of Tel Aviv composed of 150,000 persons, all Jewish, from the mayor down to the lowest employee. This modern city now stands where 25 years ago there was nothing but sand desert, she added. Jerusalem has a mixed population of Arabs, Christians and Jews, Mrs. Berkman went on, speaking of the Rothschild hospital which Hadassah is building in connection with the university there.

Cite Experiments
In the smaller communities the people work on farms or in small factories where there is experiment in industry going on, said the speaker, and each community has its own civic system. The third division of Palestine is the colony where the people live on a cooperative system, not working for profit but for a common fund. Schools and nurseries are provided in these colonies, and mothers do not take care of their own children individually as the women work along with the men. Labor is placed on a high plane here, she went on, the people considering labor the essential part of colony.

Hadassah has improved health conditions in Palestine, said Mrs. Berkman, telling how the work was begun when two nurses were sent there by the organization, and later a medical unit. Malaria was wiped out of Palestine through the efforts of these Hadassah workers, she said, adding that the organization is concentrating on the medical center, Rothschild foundation, which includes not only a hospital but a nurses' training school and an experimental laboratory.

People Have Faith
Palestine has encountered difficulties but the people are willing to go on because they have faith in its future, the speaker pointed out. Confident that education is the way to engender zeal for the Palestine project among American women, Mrs. Berkman said that the new Hadassah program stresses education and she urged Jewish women to study in order that they may be informed and may teach their children the elements of Jewish life.

The speaker told of the World Zion Congress which meets every two years for the purpose of carrying out Jewish work in Palestine. Parties have developed within the congress, she said, among them the Orthodox Jews, the Labor party, the State party and the General Zionists. The latter group, she pointed out, neither to right nor left but advocates following a center course in affairs of Palestine, and for that reason she urged Hadassah women to vote for that party on June 20.

Youth Movement
Mrs. Berkman closed her talk by referring to the "youth atarah," the movement to bring German young people to Palestine where they are absorbed into the colonies. She explained that there is one adult for every 15 children to help them adjust themselves. The children are kept in Palestine at a cost of 50 cents each per day, she said, adding that 1,756 children have been brought from Germany to date.

Preceding Mrs. Berkman's talk, Gerald Lubman sang three selections accompanied by Cecil Neubecker. His numbers were "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Sleepy Hollow Tune" and "Bells of the Sea." Jack Kalman gave three violin selections, "Melodie" by Gluck, transcribed by Fritz Kreisler; "Caprice Viennois" by Kreisler; and "Zigeunerweisen" by Pablo Sarasate. Mrs. Hans John played the accompaniment.

Annual reports were given by the various officers of the chapter for the last year and Mrs. Abraham Sigman, new president, spoke briefly of her hopes for the coming year. About 50 women attended the luncheon.

Racialism, Nationalism, New World Culture Listed As Bars to Mission Work

BY VIOLA HELLERMAN

CLIPPING the need for moral and spiritual adjustment to new problems, Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, told members of the Women's Foreign Missionary societies of the Appleton district at their meeting here Tuesday that racialism, nationalism and a new world culture built around motion pictures and the automobile are barriers to missionary enterprise today.

As examples of the new racial sensitiveness of today Dr. Cox cited the enmity which exists between the Chinese and the Japanese, the super-consciousness about the presence of the Jews in Germany and the prejudice which exists in many parts of America against the colored man.

Makes Work Harder

The new nationalism is making missionary work difficult in India, he went on. India is struggling to make India a place for the Indians, he said, and any outsider who goes into that country for any reason whatsoever is eyed with suspicion. Something of the same situation is true in China, where the people have come to be against everything that is foreign, including Christianity. They are not so much anti-Christ as they are national, he said.

As for the new world culture, Dr. Cox declared that it was impossible longer to escape the fact that movies, the sewing machine and automobiles have invaded the world. To the African this means the beginning of industrialism, without the laws which we have built up through the years to protect us from the brutality and greed of industrialism, he said.

Another Problem

Another problem coming into the missionary field now is the new sense of religious unity. Dr. Cox continued. The Chinese, for instance, are more interested in believing Christians than Methodists, Presbyterians or any other sect, he declared. United Christian councils have been organized in some of the foreign countries, he explained, and they are teaching their missionaries to think in terms of the church of Jesus Christ.

Having stated the problems, Dr. Cox went on to give several specific suggestions. He advised that after the American missionaries had begun the work in a foreign country they let the foreigners whom they had trained be the leaders in continuing the work.

"Tell him to be the president, and you the vice president," he suggested. "The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in foreign countries are already doing that."

How To Do It

To counteract nationalism, the work of the missionary must drive home the fact that Jesus is a world person, Dr. Cox said. He must be thought of as the founder and builder of a world church, with its tendency to break up family life, he advised that more white Christians be sent to live with the people of other nations. Missionaries, he said, are the best representatives of our culture, representing the good rather than the bad aspects of our modern civilization.

The address by Dr. Cox was the feature of the afternoon session, which also included a report by Mrs. G. E. Teter, Milwaukee, conference secretary, on "The Present Situation and Future Plans of the Society," a report on children's work by Mrs. J. R. Denyes, Appleton, and a few remarks by Miss Norma Craven, who is doing missionary work on the Malay peninsula. The Rev. Elizabeth Wilson was in charge of devotions. Edward Mumm, Jr., sang a group of numbers also.

Elect Officers

Officers of Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of First Methodist Episcopal church were elected and installed yesterday afternoon. They include Mrs. J. R. Denyes, president; Mrs. Earl Miller, first vice president; Mrs. Thomas S. Kepler, second vice president; Mrs. N. E. Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Vern Ames, treasurer of the home society; Mrs. I. E. Schlagenhauf, counselor for young people; Mrs. William L. Crow, citizenship chairman; Mrs. W. F. McGowan, secretary of missionary supply work; Mrs. John Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. ## SISTER, BROTHER IN RECITAL

Lucille Wichmann Presents Varied Recital Program

A great variety of interesting song literature made up the program presented by Lucille Wichmann, contralto, in her recital at Peabody hall last evening. Opening with a group of three Italian songs, the program continued with two groups of representative French and German songs and closed with selections by English and American composers.

Miss Wichmann's performance gave every evidence that she had mastered the technical difficulties involved in such a variety of material. She displayed a sincere regard for the musical content of each selection and used her voice of wide range effectively in achieving interpretative effects.

She was accompanied by her brother, Russell Wichmann, who is engaged as organist and choir master at the Shadyside Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Miss Wichmann is a student of Dean Waterman and a senior in public school music at Lawrence conservatory.

Janesville Man Killed

While Working at Plant

Janesville—John M. Jacobs, 34, an employee of the Rock River Woolen Mills, was fatally injured while at work today and died 15 minutes later in a hospital. His arm became caught in the gears of a machine and his head was crushed before the machinery could be stopped.

Schroeder attended a convention for funeral directors and embalmers Tuesday which was held in Green Bay by the state board of health.

The Marion schools closed Friday and the teachers have gone to their homes. Mr. L. K. Forrest and Leslie Anson are planning on attending summer school sessions at the University of Iowa.

August Keller, teacher in Marshfield schools, has returned to his home here for the summer.

Review of Book Given At Meeting

CONCLUDING the 1936-1937 program of Women's Missionary society of Memorial Presbyterian church, Mrs. D. C. Jones gave her impressions of the book, "Red Mother," which is the story of early Indian life as recalled by a 74-year-old Indian woman, at the meeting of the society Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Wright, 602 E. Pacific street. Twenty-three members were present and devotions were led by Mrs. H. K. Pratt who used the Twenty-third Psalm as the basis.

Mrs. H. T. Johnson led the music. Plans were discussed for a number of sewing meetings in the form of porch parties during the summer at which the women will make peasant aprons to be sold at an international tea in the fall. The first of these meetings will be held Friday, June 18, at the home of Mrs. F. W. Schneider, 738 E. Alton street.

An all-day meeting will be held July 13 at the home of Mrs. H. T. Johnson, 827 E. College avenue, at which a pot-luck luncheon will be served. The society voted yesterday to buy song books for the fall. Hostesses were Mrs. H. H. Clausen and Mrs. August Haferbecker.

Ladies Aid society of St. Matthew Lutheran church will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the church basement. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ida Tracy, Mrs. Hector Vanderlouis, Mrs. Helen Wengenke and Mrs. Arthur Werner.

Mrs. F. M. Foor, 1008 E. Wisconsin avenue, will entertain the reading circle of First English Lutheran church at 2:15 Thursday afternoon at her home. She will be reader for the afternoon.

Thirty-two members of C. Y. W. of First Congregational church attended a picnic supper last evening at Alicia park. A short business meeting was held at which the members decided to buy tables for the primary room of the Sunday school and a screen for the junior department. The committee in charge last night included Miss Elsie Brock, chairman; Miss Mathilda Jens, Mrs. Selma Abendroth and Miss Ethel Carter. Plans were made to hold a picnic July 13 at the lake.

Board Engages 5 New Teachers for Next School Term

Resignation of Miss Rose Helm, Jefferson School, Accepted

Five new teachers were engaged by the board of education last night and will start work in the Appleton public school system in fall. Several teachers were transferred to different schools in the city.

Miss Helen McGrath, Appleton, was hired to succeed Miss Nona Nemacheck as office clerk and English instructor at the McKinley Junior High school. Miss Nemacheck recently resigned.

Rudolph Gaurke, a graduate of the manual arts course at Oshkosh State Teachers college, was engaged as instructor in the opportunity room at Lincoln school. Mr. Gaurke has done substitute work at the Appleton and Kaukauna Vocational schools.

The assistant kindergarten position at Washington school will be held next fall by Miss Elizabeth B. Lindsay, a graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers college, who will succeed Miss Carol Graves who resigned. Miss Lindsay has taught for four years in Wausau and Elkhorn schools.

Kindergarten Assistant Miss Ruth Sherman also a graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers college, was engaged as the kindergarten assistant in the Franklin school. Miss Sherman has taught for four years at Richland Center.

Because of an increase in enrollment at Roosevelt Junior High school, Charles Herzog, who is graduating from Lawrence college this spring, was engaged as a mathematics, social science and English instructor at the school. About 50 additional students will attend classes at the school next fall.

The resignation of Miss Rose Helm as director of the Jefferson school kindergarten was accepted and Miss Wilma Stevenson, director of the McKinley school kindergarten, has been transferred to the Lincoln school kindergarten and assistantship in the Richmond school kindergarten.

Set Office Hours The board of education office hours during June and August will be from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The high school band will be permitted to march in the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce parade Saturday, July 3, if E. C. Moore, director, can provide sufficient band members to make a good showing.

Approving the maintenance committee's report, board members awarded a contract on cement work for bicycle racks at the Wilson Junior High school to Robert Schultz on a bid of $160.89. Fred Lillge offered a bid of $173.

Allow Bills Bills were allowed, including the following: Maurice Schumacher, Minneapolis contractor on the new high school, $25,056.90; Koepke Construction company, Appleton, $971.50, payment in full for excavation at the new school; P. J. Gallagher and Sons, Fairbault, Minn., plumbing contractor, $3,327.47; Wadford Electric company, Chicago, electrical contractor, $492.30; J. E. Robertson company, Wauwatosa, heating and ventilating contract, $3,557.36; architects, $1,551.04.

A resolution thanking Mrs. C. C. Shannon for her work on the board since 1926 was adopted by members. Mrs. Shannon will be succeeded July 1 by Robert McGillan.

Detailed plans concerning the cafeteria and electrical equipment for the new high school were considered and the board met this morning to continue the discussions.

Chilton Man President Of Retail Feed Group

Milwaukee—Delegates to the Central Retail Feed association convention yesterday chose W. N. Knauf, Chilton, as president.

Other officers elected were: Fred C. Christopherson, Milwaukee, vice president; Roland Reinders, Elm Grove, Wis., secretary-treasurer; David K. Knauf, Milwaukee, executive secretary.

The delegates voted to affiliate provisionally with the Grain and Feed National Dealers association.

ing Inland Steel with violation of the Wagner labor act through unfair labor practices.

Van A. Bittner, Chicago regional director for the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, said the complaint would be filed today with the local office of the national labor relations board.

Bittner said that even if the union loses in its fight before the labor board, "the strike will go on until we get signed collective bargaining agreement."

Would Remodel Warehouse Indications that the other side was as equally determined to hold its ground came when Mayor Edward J. Kelly announced the Republic Steel corporation had applied to the city building department for a permit to remodel a wire mill warehouse on its property for dormitory purposes.

Governor Dewey, in his invitation to the steel company heads and union leaders, said: "The present developments and proposed actions by both sides are laden with grave possibilities, with the ominous chance of rioting."

Filmdom Pays Its Final Tribute to Jean Harlow Rites

Only 200 Persons are Admitted to Funeral Services for Actress

Glendale, Calif.—The famous and obscure of movieland said last goodbyes today over a bronze and silver casket to a friend of them all—Jean Harlow, the glamor girl of many contradictions.

The 26-year-old screen star died unexpectedly Monday of uricemic poisoning, at the height of a career rivaling in romance and tragedy any of the roles that brought her wealth and fame.

Here was a life of anomalies, in big things and little. She played hard-boiled sirens—and her mother called her "Baby." A figure of persistent domestic tragedy with three marriages ended in two divorces and a suicide, she was rated universally as a "good scout" without qualifications based on marital snarls. She called herself Hollywood's worst actress and had few rivals at the box office. Reputedly worth a million dollars, she drove her own automobile and answered her own telephone.

Quiet Services The dramatic situations in which she was involved extended even into the mortuary chapel where efforts were made to keep funeral services as quiet as her publicized career and varied contacts would permit. The restrictive group of mourners included the star's mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, and two former husbands, one of them Miss Harlow's father; and two former husbands and a bereaved sweetheart of the actress herself.

Interest there centered on William Powell, screen actor who made public declaration of his love just before Jean Harlow's death—"Why did this have to be? I loved her. I loved her."

Only 200 or so were admitted, by card, to the funeral services. These were, for the most part, her associates in motion picture work—Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore, Warner Baxter, Frank Morgan and others who were started with her. W. S. Van Dyke, who directed many of her films, Ray June, her cameraman, and several studio executives.

Among the mourners were Charles McGraw, III, wealthy sportsman who married her when she was only 16; Hal Rosson, her third husband from whom she was divorced in 1934; her father, R. Mont Clair Carpenter of Kansas City, and her former stepfather, Marino Bello, who came to his former wife's aid in her sorrow.

Her second husband was Paul Bern, film producer, whose death a few months after their wedding is still somewhat mysterious, without full explanation of motives for suicide.

After a Christian Science funeral rite by Mrs. Genevieve Smith, practitioner, the massive casket was to be borne to the Wee Kirk of the Heather chapel in Forest Lawn Memorial park. Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald, famous singing duo of the films, were to sing two of Jean's favorites: "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Indian Love Call."

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press
Smet, N. Y.—Science has talked for years of using the power of the sun. Arthur Drew, gasoline station proprietor, has done it.

He built a 1,000-gallon tank and lined it with aluminum. He says the sun, striking the shiny surface on a hot day, heats the water to 120 degrees.

Beneath the tank is a shower bath. It's for passing truck drivers.

Marked for Identification
Baltimore, Md.—Police Commissioner William P. Lawson ordered that policemen in cars answering bank and store holdup calls wear uniforms. He said when plain clothes men leap out of the cars, armed with sawed-off shotguns, they frighten the public.

Besides, they might be taken for bandits and shot at.

Receives State Check
For Work on Highways
A state highway department check for $3,054.39 to reimburse Outagamie county for work state highways during April, was received Monday by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. The payment includes $2,904.39 for general maintenance and $150 for supervision.

Beg Pardon
In the Post-Crescent Tuesday night, it was stated that a float entered by the Outagamie County Pioneer association had won second place in parade competition at the state convention of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool at Oshkosh. The float was entered by the Outagamie County Milk Pool unit and not the pioneer association.

NEW INTERNE

Ferdinand Rankin, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Rankin, 1315 N. Superior street, has just been assigned an internship at St. Elizabeth hospital effective July 1. He will be graduated from the University of Wisconsin medical school next week. Dr. Rankin is a graduate of Appleton High school where he was a member of the football team, and received his B. A. degree from Lawrence college before entering the medical school at Madison.

May Still Enroll In Swim School

481 Boys and Girls Have Registered for Classes At Y Pool

Additional students can be accommodated in the "Learn to Swim School" at the Y. M. C. A. pool, says Risch, physical education instructor at the Y and general chairman of the school, announced this morning.

A total of 481 boys and girls now have registered for classes. Youths desiring to register for classes can obtain application blanks at the Y. M. C. A. and after registration, pupils will be assigned to various classes. The girl's classes are held Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings with boys holding classes on the afternoons of the same days.

One new lesson will be considered each week during the 6-week course and pupils already have started building up their confidence while in the water. Other class topics for the school include breathing and relaxation, leg movement, arm movement, coordination of arms and legs and the complete stroke.

At the close of the school, pupils will be tested and swims for distance will be held. Instructors in charge of the classes include James Bailey, Howard Ruth, Billie Harms, Jean Lewis and Julia Rogers.

Bill Aimed at Drunken Drivers Is Rejected

Madison—(P)—The assembly killed today the bill of Senator Harold Schoenecker (D), Milwaukee, which doubles the penalty against reckless and drunken operators of automobiles and those who fail to stop after accident.

Schoenecker's bill would have increased the fine for those offenses from $500 to $1,000 and a prison term to a maximum of two years and a minimum of three months. The measure was defeated without debate.

body. The new instrument provides two microphones, one for each ear, which can be moved independently of each other, enabling the listener to determine the exact location of any sound.

Dr. Bassett explained that the new instrument uses the basic principle, also used in the airplane detectors and soon to be used in motion picture sound recording, that normal human beings determine the location of sounds to the right or left depending on which ear the sound reaches first. Dr. Bassett explained.

Dr. Leverett D. Bristol of New York urged the association to endorse and put into practice an ancient Chinese principle of medicine—paying the doctor to keep you well instead of paying him to cure you. The time has come, he declared, for the physician to apply preventive medicine rather than curative medicine and to persuade the public to pay him "for individual health protection and promotion."

American medicine gave recognition today to birth control as proper medical practice after a long standing record of opposition to contraceptives.

The American Medical association has made a tradition of turning down birth control. For 25 years the fight has gone on for approval, but it was not until four years ago that the controversy came actively into debate. Two years later an investigating committee was appointed.

The action yesterday was unanimous, with the house of delegates, governing body of American medicine, deciding to make clear to doctors their legal rights in using contraceptives, to investigate methods of contraception, to promote education in fertility and sterility and to restrict control of contraceptives to legally licensed clinics.

Skrudrud Accepts New Position in Milwaukee Office

Grand Haven Man Succeeds Him in U. S. Department Here

Edwin W. Nelson, Grand Haven, Mich., has succeeded O. M. Skrudrud as assistant engineer at the United States Engineer's office in Appleton. Mr. Skrudrud left Tuesday for Milwaukee where he will be an assistant engineer in the United States Engineer's office there. Mr. Nelson was stationed at Grand Haven before taking the Appleton position.

An average of 163 boats passed through each lock on the lower Fox river during May according to reports at the engineer's office. The largest tonnage was reported at Rapids Croche where 38,920 short tons passed through the lock. A total of 38,904 short tons passed through the lock at Little Kaukauna.

Social Security Act Explained at Meeting

Regulations concerning filing of social security reports were explained by Lester Myers, Green Bay, at a meeting last night of the Industrial Relations association which is composed of personnel men from the various pulp and paper mill firms in this part of the state. Mr. Myers is a representative of the social security board.

After the discussion, members held a round table discussion and considered questions presented to the executive committee. About 35 members from Appleton, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha, Wisconsin Rapids, Port Edwards, Kaukauna, Marathon, Wausau, and Mosinee were in attendance. The session was held at Hotel Northern.

Light Frost Hits City and Vicinity

Generally Fair and Warmer Weather Forecast Thursday

Appleton and vicinity were hit by a light frost last night as the mercury dropped to 42 degrees above zero. Generally fair weather will prevail tonight and tomorrow and normal temperatures are expected to return to this vicinity of the state.

Maximum and minimum temperatures of 60 and 42 degrees were reported in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The temperature at noon today was 61 degrees above zero.

The Associated Press reported highest and lowest temperatures yesterday at El Paso 96, Phoenix 94, Wausau and Park Falls 30.

Committee Will Study Pay Increase Request

Members of the street and bridge committee at a meeting at 7:30 tonight at the city hall will consider a request of street department employees for wage increases. They are seeking an increase of 5 cents an hour for day workers with a proportionate increase for those employed on monthly salaries.

Announce Reduction In Gasoline Prices

Chicago—(P)—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced reductions of one-half cent a gallon in the price of gasoline to dealers, effective today, in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, upper Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas and North and South Dakota.

A further reduction of a half-cent, the only cut to apply in lower Michigan, also was announced for the company's third grade gasoline.

DIES AT EVANSVILLE
Evansville, Wis.—(P)—Miss Laura E. Dixon, 50, manager of the Calvary Community house in Milwaukee, died at the home of friends here today. Miss Dixon, a graduate of Beloit college, was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spooner when stricken. The body probably will be taken to Beloit for burial.

Request Inspection of College Avenue Sewer

A petition asking an inspection on the College avenue sewer between Story and Spruce streets has been filed by a number of property owners with Carl Becker, city clerk. The petition states that basements in a number of homes are flooded as a result of water backing up in the sewer after heavy rains.

Hadland Speaks At Fish Supper

Discusses Conservation at Clintonville Lutheran Men's Club Meeting

Clintonville—Members of St. Martin Lutheran Men's club were hosts to their ladies at their annual fish supper Monday evening at the church dining room. About 175 persons were present. The principal speaker was George Hadland, game warden of Waupaca county, who was introduced by the toastmaster, M. O. Stockland. Mr. Hadland's talk dealt with fish and game conservation. Members of the club were called upon for fish stories and the program was augmented with musical selections. About 150 pounds of fish for the supper were furnished by the club, which was divided into two sections, with Amos Schoenike and Herman Schultz as captains. Schoenike's team won the angling contest by a large margin.

Francis M. Higgins, advertising manager of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, was the guest speaker at the Waupaca Lions club meet Monday evening at the Valley Inn, Chain O' Lakes. Mr. Higgins talked on the Memorial day automobile races at Indianapolis which he attended with a group of company officials.

In honor of the confirmation of their daughter, Helen Marie, Mr. and Mrs. William Zastrow had as their guests Sunday, Miss Anna Erickson, Miss Eleanor Erickson, Mrs. Ruth LeRoy and sons, Donald and Chester, all of Green Bay.

Four soloists from the music department of the Clintonville High school participated in the state music tournament at Madison Saturday. ## Agents Know Loopholes In All Income Tax Laws

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The best income tax and loophole experts in the country are the accountants employed by the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue to comb the returns for mistakes and evasions. They are kiver-to-kiver men who know the law and the regulations forward, backward and sideways, and they can sort out the deliberately snarled relations of a dozen or a 100 phoney corporations as unerringly as an old woman by a fireside unwinds a castoff sweater.

These agents know all the government's tricks. Snares and loopholes too, the existence of which Mr. Roosevelt somehow forgot to mention the other day, and any big taxpayer, corporate or individual, who wants the best advice on evading taxes and avoiding the traps set by the treasury department can save money by hiring an agent out of the bureau of internal revenue to come and point out how.

These agents get small pay from the government, but they pick up all the trade and business secrets of business firms by delving into their affairs and there is nothing to prevent their resigning to sell their information to private employers.

Andrew Mellon, when he was the best secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton, ordered a survey showing the most effective income tax escapes as revealed by the intimate experience of the government's experts. He received a report listing nine methods and, according to testimony given later, used some of those methods himself.

Clothes Appraised as Part of Dead Man's Estate

The government, however, also uses technicalities to trick, harass and, as far as honesty and decency are concerned, to rob the taxpayers. I cite the case of a widow of a man who died a year ago, who has been compelled to preserve and recently to drag out for inspection by a party of ghouls from the treasury department the few old suits, the socks, worn underwear and hats and the rusty, churly-shafted golf clubs of her late husband that they might be appraised as part of his estate. He was not a dresy man and his clothes, when new, didn't stand him much, but a second-hand dealer wouldn't pay his own brother $50 for the whole wardrobe in its present condition.

The widow would have given them away except that this would have been regarded as an attempt to evade appraisal and might have resulted in a punitive, arbitrary appraisal in the absence of the clothes. A tax on the wardrobe would not yield more than a few dollars, but the government has a cunning idea. This wardrobe, at an arbitrary government appraisal, might raise the total amount of the estate into a higher bracket and by that trick the wife and child of a dead citizen who worked hard and saved for their protection may be robbed of an amount greater than the value of his garments, which they were not allowed to give away.

Speaking of ethics, morality and loop-holes, as Mr. Roosevelt was the other day, I submit that the grave-robbing policy of the government in this instance smells something more foul than that of the rich evader who forms a phoney company to save a few dollars from the clutches of the deserving Democrats.

Mr. Roosevelt speaks feelingly of the unemployed poor as the victims of this withholding and, in the abstract, he is correct. But my own feeling on this subject is influenced by the first appointment that Jim Farley made when he became post-year to keep a scrapbook in another government department for no other reason than that he was a deservng Democrat and broke.

The Treasury Enters Court With Dirty Hands

To be sure, it was generous of Mr. Farley to make a job for his personal entertainer, but it is my thought that his personal generosity should not be carried on at public expense, and I suggest that 10,000 such acts of kindness scattered through the national administration also present a scandalous, meretricious and immoral robbery of the unemployed poor for whom Mr. Roosevelt speaks so feelingly.

Mr. Roosevelt has done nothing to dispel the natural suspicion of the income taxpayer that the money comes earmarked for keepers of the scrapbooks in a thousand and one guises and that the unemployed poor get second chop at the dough. The government uses as many loop-holes, evasions and tricks as any individual or corporation and with no more ethical or honest intent; in addition to all of which the reviewing agents are given great opportunities to knock down personal craft and persecute victims of personal or political displeasure.

The treasury enters court with dirty hands.

The smoke from Pittsburgh travels as far as Washington, D. C.

Pupils Deposit $96; Withdraw $523 During Weekly Banking Day

Because school closed last Friday, Appleton students withdrew $523.99 and deposited only $96.72 during the weekly bank day last week. The balance now on deposit at the First National bank is $10,831.55, according to Miss Ruth Wassmann. Of the 1,501 students in school on bank day, 303 made deposits while 80 made withdrawals.

For the third consecutive week, Edison pupils deposited more money than any other school. The 41 Edison pupils deposited $22.52, Roosevelt Junior High school $10.49, sevelt Junior High school was second with $15.12.

Other deposits include Franklin $3.33, Columbus $12.93, McKinley Grades $3.18, deaf room 30 cents, Lincoln $14.72, Jefferson $3.73, Washington $3.33, opportunity room 25 cents, McKinley Junior High school $6.40, Wilson Junior High school $10.49.

Ganfield Speaks On U. S. Problems At Chilton Supper

Carroll College President Traces History of American Government

Chilton—A men's supper was given at the hall of the Presbyterian church at 7:30 Monday evening. Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, was the guest speaker, his topic being present-day problems. A study of the newspapers, magazines, and minutes of the several colonial legislatures and of the constitutional convention that formed our federal constitution convinced readers that there were many strange ideas about the problems that then confronted the people, and stranger ideas as to how these problems were to be solved, the speaker said. That the greatest instrument of government ever given to the world should be a product of that period proves that there were leaders who knew the history of the past, and who read aright the signs of the times in which they lived. There were statesmen, not politicians in those days. The leadership of our nation has been in the hands of politicians since about 1837. Dr. Ganfield maintained.

The rewards of service in the ministry, in educational and professional life were so meager that the best talent of our country was drawn into the industrial and commercial life of our nation, leaving low mediocre talent to the field of government and politics. We have few if any statesmen in governmental life today, that field being given over to politicians, the speaker asserted.

America needs to change politicians for leaders who are statesmen. The people need to dedicate their energies and that of the best in honest leadership for the next 25 or 30 years to the end that we may understand how best to live in peace and prosperity among ourselves and with all nations.

"During the last century we have in a remarkable degree subdued the physical world about us; let us during the coming century dedicate ourselves to the greater task of studying and understanding human nature, that we may have a civilization in which human welfare rather than personal profit will be the ideal that will be the objective of men," Dr. Ganfield declared.

The meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the Ebenezer Reformed church was postponed from last Friday evening to Monday. The speaker was Attorney Oscar Wolters of Sheboygan who talked on "Wills and the Descent of Property."

Historical Society Plans Annual Picnic

The annual picnic of the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical society will be held Sunday, June 20, at Hortonville in conjunction with the homecoming celebration being staged there. Society members will bring their own basket lunches. A program which will include the awarding of special prizes to pioneers at 2 o'clock in the afternoon is being planned by officers of the society.

License Applications Must be Filed Soon

All persons having licenses that expire July 1 are advised by city officials to file application for new licenses with City Clerk Carl Becker by Wednesday, June 16. The common council must approve the applications before new licenses can be issued and the next meeting on June 16 is the last regular meeting of the council before July 1.

Two Couples Honored on Their 25th Anniversaries

Hortonville — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meyer, Greenville, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday at their home. Seventy guests were present. A reception was held and attendants of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer at their wedding were present at the reception. They were Mrs. John Much and Mrs. Selma Krueger and the bride's twin sisters, Mrs. Charles Strey, Hortonville, and Mrs. Paul Schmidt, Oshkosh, also were present. Games and a mock wedding were enjoyed. Those who took part in the mock wedding were Herman Jennijohn, as the bride; Mrs. Paul Schmidt, groom; Marian Ruppel, bridesmaid; Mrs. Louise Schmidt, best man; Joan Strey, flower girl, and Richard Schmidt, ring bearer. Erwin Tellock acted as the minister.

Guests present were: the Rev. and Mrs. L. Kasper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beshta, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stolzman and son, Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Will Schulz, Mr. and Mrs. Kate Beshta, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tellock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Tellock and son Arlo, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tellock and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lowden, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Much and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Radloff and son, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Seifert, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Butt and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Marian Ruppel, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jennijohn and family, Mrs. Selma Krueger, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schmidt and family, and Mrs. Louis Schmidt, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. John Much and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Much and son Norman, Dale. The following friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bonnin, Hortonville, Saturday evening at the Bonnin home, the occasion being the Bonnin's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Theil, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Graupman, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bachman, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warning and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Much and son Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hess, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cards were played.

A meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at 2:30 Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy Hough, Hortonville. Troop 37 Hortonville Boy Scouts will hold their weekly meeting Wednesday evening at the fair grounds. Each scout will bring a guest and they will prepare their own supper on the grounds.

Frank Hunt, formerly agent at the C. and N. W. depot at Hortonville but who for the last several years was agent at Woodruff, has returned as agent at Hortonville. He will move his family here soon. Arthur Bixford, who has been resident here since David Treat left here about a year ago, has not decided where he will locate. Mr.

Treat is reported to be on the pension list of employees of the railroad. He served as operator and agent at Hortonville continuously for about forty years. He is living in Michigan at present.

Mrs. L. Sternicke of Hortonville is spending several days at Evanston, Ill., where she attended the graduating exercises of the nurses training school class of 1937 of the Evanston hospital. Her daughter Doris is one of the class. Doris was graduated from Hortonville High school with the class of 1933. This is the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sternicke to become a graduate nurse.

Mrs. E. E. Taylor, Alice Taylor, Arthur Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. John Hueber were guests Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Grant.

During the summer months, beginning Sunday, low mass and benediction will be at 8 o'clock and

Value of False Card Is In Ratio to Its Risk

THE GENTLE ART OF FALSE CARDING

The value of a false card usually is in direct ratio to its risk. If a dealer can be made to believe that a defender is forced to part with a certain card, he naturally will attach much more credence to its play than if he feels the card is being played by choice. An instance of beautiful false carding is reported in the current number of the British Bridge World Magazine. South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
South West North East
2 spades Pass 3 spades Pass
4 hearts Pass 4 spades Pass
6 spades Pass Pass

To American eyes South's two spade bids look pretty shabby, but perhaps it conveyed quite a different message from the one our two bidders convey. It is doubtful that many of our experts would reach a slam on this hand, and it is equally doubtful that a slam should be bid. But this is beside the point. We were discussing the point. We were discussing the point. We were discussing the point.

West opened the diamond king and continued the suit, declarer ruffing the second round. Obviously, the correct line of play was to lead out the ace and king of hearts, ruff a third round, return with a trump, and lead the last heart. If West follows, safety demands ruffing with the spade queen. If West fails, the nine-spot will suffice. That is the way declarer started out, but East came to the fore with a play, that threw a monkey wrench into the machinery.

Let me quote East's actual account of the play as published in the aforesaid magazine: "I was sitting East, and, without considering the possible effect of my play, I dropped the three. Jack and queen of hearts on declarer's first three heart leads. I knew that South could ruff the last heart quite safely, if he needed to, and I also knew that the fact of the ten being set up by his own hand would avail him nothing, as I could see that there were no losers in dummy. This being so, there seemed no reason why I should not play an idle false card or two, and at least perplex the declarer. Having ruffed the third heart, he returned to his own hand with a trump, and the position now was:

WE EXPECT the bride to be beautiful from head to toe, and the head is literally a "must."

A permanent for nine out of ten heads is essential. But the wise bride sits for her permanent several weeks before her wedding day. A permanent is usually at its best after a few settings; and there is not the danger of her hair looking too freshly waved or set under the veil and after the veil is removed. Then, too, if the hair should happen to kink up (it is only an isolated case that does, these days) but it should there still time for a few softening oil treatments. An oil treatment or two, or a shampoo tint and daily brushings will leave the hair silky and manageable.

Also if a change of coiffure is planned, this too should be done well in advance so that the bride and her nearest relatives and friends become accustomed to the new hair-do. It is considered poor taste for the bride to go to extremes or drastic changes in her coiffure, make-up, etc.

Under the Veil Cap

Let us consider the requisites of the coiffure that nestles under the veil cap, then we can talk about the latest bridal fashions. Even if the hair is, as a rule, worn quite short it may be allowed to grow a little for "The Day" for hair of medium length, bursting into curls at the nape of the neck is usually more flattering when accompanied by a veil. If you are getting a haircut, this, like the permanent or new hair-do should come well in advance of the wedding day.

Whether a veil is worn, or the very fashionable turban or tiny toque and face veil, the coiffure that frames face as well as veil or hat outline is most flattering. The brushed back from the brow hair-dos so fashionable and so youthful are only for the lovely, young, unlined face, free from a single blemish, smooth as satin. A few soft rolls nestling against the veil are good. The new angel rolls make one look particularly youthful, but they are best broken up a bit, else they look too harsh and set. Tapered curls, their fluffy, feathery edges silhouetting the veil are charming.

As I have already mentioned, medium length hair is best for the bride. And it may either end in rows or soft curls (not the passe sausage rolls of course) or the ends may be tucked under Patez Boy fashion—particularly fashionable and flattering. If one is very vain, feathery bangs or curls are permissible on the forehead and give one a piquant air. Personally, however, I prefer the brushed back fashion. If the features are good there's nothing more charming than the center part with a few soft curls at temple and sides.

One rule for bridal coiffures is the hairdress should be lovely and as unrumpled when the veil is removed. That is why the flat on top or a suggestion of shadow wave or swirl is still popular. Avoid curls piled high at the back.

Ascertain Each Other's Views Before Marriage

BY DOROTHY DIX

Undoubtedly much domestic misery would be saved and many divorces prevented if in the days of courtship the enamored youth and maiden attempted to ascertain each other's views on a few practical points, instead of trying to take the temperature of each other's affections and find out if said emotions would always keep at the boiling point.

This may be a difficult thing to do for those who are venturing into matrimony for the first time because they do not know what virtues to look for and what faults to avoid in selecting their mates. Before marriage good looks, devoted affections, seem the most desirable attributes in a husband or wife. After marriage you know that an entirely new line of qualities makes a man or woman endurable as a life partner.

So I would suggest that the engaged girl, instead of demanding to know of the Boy Friend whether he is utterly, perfectly, entirely certain that he will never cease to love her or look at another woman, would lay off of the sentimental goo-bis point of view and convictions and reactions on the following subjects.

The money question. How much do you make in real money? Are you a spender or a saver? If I marry you, will I have to scrimp on the reading an improving book or try-butter's bill in order to pay for your lodge dues and the floral of a man who has about as little piece you sent to some stranger's funeral? Will we always just one leap ahead of the sheriff because you have no sales resistance and will buy anything you can get on time? Or will you handle what you earn prudently and wisely so that we may look forward to living on Easy Street in our old age?

How do you stand on the allowance proposition? Are you going to make me a partner or a panchandler? Are you going to give me an allowance on which to run the house and for my own personal use as my right? Or are you going to make me rattle my little tin cup before you and bow for every nickel? Are you going to be shocked and resentful at the cost of marriage, or feel that it is worth its price?

Are you going to be a freestyle companion or one of the men who put on their hats as soon as dinner is over and beat it to the club or some place where there is a poker with an "e" and the custom has been followed ever since

Uncle Ray's Corner

Mercury's Sunshine

I am glad I was not born on the planet Mercury! If I had been, life would not have been so pleasant! Mercury isn't a very big planet! It has quite one and a half times the diameter of the moon.

On our earth there is very little change in the seeming size of the sun at noon. What a different story it is on Mercury! At one time of its year, the sun would seem about five times as large as it does to us. At another season, only 22 days later, it would seem about 10 times as large as to us!

The changes in the seeming size of the sun, if seen from Mercury, are due to changes in distance. At a certain time, the planet is 28,500,000 miles from the sun. At another time, it is 43,400,000 miles from the sun.

The heat from the sun also differs a great deal. There is always too much on one side of Mercury, but sometimes there is about twice as much as at other times.

To make one complete trip around the sun takes Mercury 88 days of time, as we count time on earth. That gives us reason to say that Mercury's year lasts a little less than three months. A 12-year-old boy or girl of the earth would be more than 48 "years" old on Mercury.

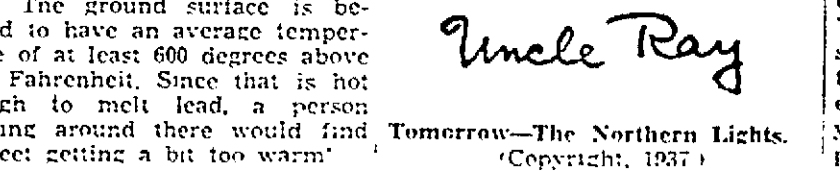

Careful study of Mercury has failed to show air around it. If there is any air, it is so little that there would not be enough for us to breathe. That is another reason I would not care to go there.

Mercury has been called "the twilight planet." This name comes from the fact that we can see it only in the early evening or around sunrise. Even then it is hard to find.

For Science section of your scrapbook, games and puzzles will be found in the "Funmaker" leaflet. If you would like a copy send a 3c stamped, return envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

That is the case on Mercury, to the best of the belief of astronomers. It is a hard planet to study, but enough has been learned to say that one side is almost surely turned away from the sun all the time. That side must have such a low temperature that the North Pole would seem like a summer resort compared to it.

If one side is always away from the sun, the other side has everlasting daylight, also everlasting heat. The ground surface is believed to have an average temperature of at least 600 degrees above zero Fahrenheit. Since that is hot enough to melt lead, a person walking around there would find his feet getting a bit too warm!

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

It is an excellent plan to cover the ground between the rows of strawberries with straw or some other litter after the soil has been given a good cultivation. The litter will keep the earth moist and will prevent the berries which form from becoming covered with dirt. Plans which have been raised by the frost during the winter should be pressed back into place with the foot. Howard 17 is one of the best of the new strawberries and is a good kind both for the home garden and shipping.

Cake batter may be kept in an automatic refrigerator until ready to put into oven if poured in pans in which they are to be baked and carefully covered with waxed paper to keep out air thus preventing evaporation and crusting.

Little potatoes that seem almost useless can be used. Wash them thoroughly, boil with the skins on and put through the ricer. The potatoes will emerge fluffy and fine while the skins obligingly stay behind.

If beef ribs are to be roasted so that they are to be rare, allow about 10 minutes per pound of meat. Begin with a very hot oven, reducing it after 20 minutes or so. If the beef ribs are to be well done about 15 to 20 minutes per pound, following the same system as with rare beef above.

Lighten the Load on Adolescent Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

Lighten the load on the adolescent child. During the first years of adolescence the strain of growth is severe. Often it takes all the energy of the child. High marks are lost and low ones take their places. Good temper, cherry cooperation vanish and in their stead we have crouches, tears, rebellion and failure. Growth is eating all the power the child can generate.

Sometimes the young adolescent seems driven to excessive labor. We find a twelve-year-old girl at the head of her classes, an officer in the general organization, head of the literary club, interested in the dramatic society taking the lead in the term play, going to dancing school and taking music lessons. Or we find a boy filling the day and half the night in the same fashion. They do not realize they are draining themselves of energy and reducing their chances of success.

An adolescent child's day must be carefully restricted so as to keep him growing steadily as possible without strain. There is always strain at this time, but wise guidance can reduce it to the bearable at least.

These children need recreation and rest in their day. They are likely to forget to play. They have outgrown the childish games and are either too weary to take up new ones or at the other extreme, make a fool of a pleasure. Play, rest, recreation are essential to the healthy growth of these children.

When the report cards begin to show a falling off in school work, don't scold, don't put on the pressure, just keep quiet. Go over the child's program with the teachers. Study the daily routine of the child to discover where the load can be lightened. Keep in mind that what you most wish to do is to preserve the health of the child. The school and the teacher are dedicated to the work of making the child and the course of study a hundred percent unity. You are interested in growing a healthy child first, last, all the time.

Don't hesitate, when the conditions are set against the child, to cut down his school day, to cut out all unessential activities. Keep the child in school and keep him working within the limits of his present power, but not beyond them. Keeping him at a schedule of work in which he is failing won't do any good and it certainly will do harm.

In this situation the child's wishes are rarely to be taken as the parent's guide. Children want to do what they think is expected of them. Ambitious ones want to do more than is expected or even possible. If children could grow up without guidance, without the exercise of wise authority Nature would have discovered that long ago and would have eliminated all the adults leaving the world to the infants.

Whenever an adolescent child seems lazy, ill-tempered, rebellious, study his daily schedule and lighten the load he is carrying. Whenever one of these children shows great excitability do the same thing. Too ready tears, laughter that comes too easily and echoes too loudly, calls for the same attention.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Kimberly and Kaukauna to Play Night Baseball Games

Two Rivers Will Meet Papermaker Nine This Evening

Green Bay Sox Battle Kaws Thursday at Electric City

FOLLOWERS of the Kimberly and Kaukauna teams in the Northern State League will have an opportunity to see both in action in night games this week.

Tonight Kimberly will take on Two Rivers in a game postponed at the start of the season. The Papermakers are expected to use Al LaDuke on the mound with Lefty Behr in reserve. Two Rivers probably will use Harlan Bohne, its youthful pitching star, or the veteran Lefty Fortin. The game will start at 8:15.

Thursday night's contest at Kaukauna will bring together the Kaws and Green Bay, two of the oldest and bitterest rivals in the circuit. The Kaws looked pretty good last Sunday night under lights when they beat Kimberly and aim to bump off the Bays who are on the bottom in standings, something highly unusual. The Kaws are on the top.

Green Bay has been working hard to pull out of its slump and Manager Bob O'Connell's pitching staff have lightened a bit, as Ralph Sheldon and Bill Van Boxel, two mound recruits, have come through with top-notch exhibitions. In addition, the veteran Johnny Rowe has enjoyed a good rest since a week ago Sunday when he worked the Kimberly game, and he should be at peak form against Kaukauna.

Have Classy Infield The Bays probably have the best infield in the Northern State League. The addition of Rex Fontana has rounded out the inner works perfectly and with Norm Clusman at first, Elmer Jacobs at second and Shorty Zuluimder at first, the Sox have a combination which is mighty hard to beat. In addition to their fielding class, every member of this quartet swings a wicked bat at the plate.

The Bay pilot still is speculating with his outfield, and he is trying to round up another capable fly-hawk who can biff the ball at a 300 plus clip. With Fontana taking over the shortstop duties, Manager McClain has moved Frank Dobkowski to the gardens, Harold Berken, a brother of Earl, the hard hitting right fielder, also is getting some consideration, along with Bill Erickson, a veteran gardener who should loosen up a lot if the weather ever gets warm. Eldon (Skimmer) Becker, one of the Green Sox regulars for years, of course is a fixture in one of the outfield posts.

Louis Working on Defense for Right

Challenger Holds Longest Drill; Champ Resumes Boxing

Kenosha.—Displaying a new polish in his defensive technique against a right hand punch, Joe Louis yesterday boxed eight rounds before 1,100 persons in his longest workout since he launched his championship bout training grind at Lakefront Stadium.

The boxer went two rounds each against four sparring partners. Two new men to face him were George Williams, Chicago, and Tiger Halstrom of Wheeling, West Virginia. Salvatore Ruzgerello and George Higgs were the others.

Louis practiced from the defensive angle and then stepped out with offensive tactics designed to perfect the timing of his left hand. He boxed again Saturday and Sunday. The Illinois Boxing commission is due to make its examination tomorrow.

Grand Beach, Mich.—Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock dropped boxing gloves again today after two years of comparative inactivity.

Braddock, who is on top of his second of championship fights, his defense against the Louie June 22, took a light workout yesterday and planned six rounds of boxing for today. He will speed up drill tomorrow and will trade punches with his sparring partner every day the rest of the week and probably on Sunday.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

MAY we offer our congratulations to Appleton Lions club for deciding to honor the outstanding members of the high school track and field squad with gold track shoes and noon luncheon.

We know that the boys will appreciate the honor being bestowed upon them and we feel that they deserve it. The squad went into three outdoor meets this spring and came out with three championships. One of them was the state Class A championship, an honor that comes to a Valley conference school only once in a blue moon and which has never before come to Appleton high.

Had the Terrors won only the valley titles this year we'd have been willing to let the incident pass for the school has won the championship eight times since 1924. But to make a clean sweep of all the outdoor titles is something else again and we feel the boys have the honor coming.

For the last several years the high school and college football

Golfing Stars to Try Again Today

Entrants in Open Have Trouble in Practice Rounds Yesterday

Birmingham, Mich.—The star-studded field of 143 professionals and 25 amateurs had a "free ride" coming today over the wind-swept, bay-covered Oakland hills golf course—one last chance to find the answers to a host of questions the 7,000-yard layout will ask tomorrow as the 41st national open championship gets under way.

None welcomed another gratis tour of the tilted terrain more than youthful "Slammin' Sam" Snead, from down in West Virginia's knobs who has been installed as the No. 1 favorite, although it is his first crack at the country's most coveted crown.

Snead, sensation of the winter tournaments and one of the longest drivers the game has ever known, couldn't find the correct answer yesterday as he practiced with Gene Sarazen, Lawson Little and Tommy Armour. The West Virginian played most of the round in the deep rough. Although he did not post a score, he said he totaled "somewhere around 76 or 77."

Snead was quoted at 8 to 1 by the betting commissioners. Close behind Snead in the betting were Henry Picard, Harry Cooper, Byron Nelson and Ralph Guldahl, 10 to 1, and Tommy Armour and Ky Lafol, at 12 to 1.

Tony Manero, defending champion, who shattered all records with his 282 at Baltusrol last year, was on the books at 15 to 1. But Tony believes the odds are too long and that he is an "even choice against the field."

Gene Sarazen, who won the title in 1922 and 1923, was quoted at 16 to 1. Al Watrous, the host professional, and Johnny Goodman, the Omaha amateur who grabbed the crown in 1933, each at 25 to 1.

S TIFLING a desperate last inning rally of three runs, the Appleton Merchants won their sixth straight league game last night at the Pierce park diamond by topping the Pond Juniors 7 to 3.

The Merchants scored in the first, third, fifth and seventh innings and had the Ponds shutout 7 to 0 in the final frame. Ponds struck back with three runs but their rally was cut short.

Schuerer, on the mound for the Merchants, gave up seven scattered hits, while Viet was touched for eight singles by the Merchants.

Grosser was the Appleton Merchants' star, banging three home runs in four times at bat. Cy Burton slammed two hits in four trips and scored one run. A. Babino was the batting ace for the losers, socking three hits in three times at bat.

Burton, Schuerer and Burneister fanned ten batters and yielded six bases on balls. Viet struck out five batters and walked seven.

Coated Paper in 23 to 6 Victory Over Machinists

Winners Avenge Earlier Defeat; Score in Every Inning

AMERICAN LEAGUE

THE WEEK'S GAMES

June 8—Coated 23, Machine 6.
June 9—Woolens versus Fox River.

June 10—Post-Tuttle versus Atlas.

COATED Paper company softballers raised themselves, temporarily at least, out of the American league cellar last night when they defeated the Machine-K. C. team 23 to 6 in a wild game.

The Coateds scored in every inning, running up an early lead that never left the outcome in doubt. It was sweet revenge for the Coateds as they evened matters for an earlier defeat at the hands of the Machines. They slapped out 23 hits and took advantage of these and 12 errors to run up their total.

Coated opened the scoring with a run in the first inning, added three in the second, six in the third, four in the fourth, three in the fifth, two in the sixth, one in the seventh and three in the eighth. Machines scored twice in the second inning and once each in the third, fifth, eighth and ninth frames. L. Schroeder and A. Felzer hit home runs.

Robert Gazecki Is Given Highest Award at School

Degree of Distinction Is Won by Outstanding Student

Menasha—Robert Gazecki was awarded a certificate for attaining the highest degree, the degree of distinction, in the National Forensic League at class day exercises for Menasha high school seniors held Tuesday afternoon at Butte des Morts auditorium.

A. J. Armstrong made all the awards which included those for debate, forensic work, dramatic work, tennis, and medals for excellence in classwork. The usual class day program was presented under the direction of L. E. Weinberg.

Gazecki was elected to the league last year and has attained the degrees of merit, of honor, of excellence and finally of distinction. The last degree is the highest given by the league and is awarded to those who have 100 points in forensic work.

Others who qualified for membership in the league this year include Chester Rembleske, Doris H. Bernat, John Homan, Vernon Pont, Alvin Zeleny, Hubert Nelson, Joyce Scanlon and Richard Steffens.

Girl Wins Honor

An award was presented to Marcella Spilski for being the only girl in the state of Wisconsin to place in the national essay contest conducted by the home makers educational service. Her subject was "How I Use My Home Economics At Home." She was given a certificate for her effort.

Honor Medals were awarded in English, citizenship, chemistry, geometry, Latin and athletics by the principal. The sophomore English medal went to Jack Crockett with honorable mention going to Katherine Dexter, Jane McGrath, Carol Osborne and Ruth Fitzgibbon.

Bette Harold won the junior English medal and honorable mention was given to Vernon Pont, Doris Nemitz and Alvin Zeleny.

Fern Laske was named the winner of the senior English medal.

The freshman citizenship medal was awarded to Joyce Scanlon with honorable mention going to Marion Homan, Leola Backes and William Spengler. Mildred Kloeppel won the senior citizenship medal and Chester Rembleske was given honorable mention.

Chemistry Honors

Chemistry honors went to William Barwick, John Homan and Doris Nemitz received honorable mention. In geometry, William Erdman received the honor medal and William Barwick, William Heckrodt and Mildred Bobb were given honorable mention.

Guy Wideman was awarded the M-Club medal for excellence in athletics and Hubert Nelson was given the honor medal for excellence in Latin.

Wisconsin High school forensic association certificates and Menasha debate M's were awarded to the following debaters: Robert Gazecki, Chester Rembleske, Hubert Nelson, John Homan, Dorothy Bernat, Vernon Pont, Alvin Zeleny, Joyce Scanlon, Richard Steffens, Frances Dumbek, George Verhoven and Audrey Stroetz.

Association certificates were also awarded to all students who represented the high school in any inter-school forensic contest including one-act plays, debate, extemporaneous speaking and reading, oratory and declamation.

Receive Letters

Five members of the tennis team were given letters for participating in conference matches this spring. The five were Hubert Nelson, Robert Floyd, Vernon Pont, Robert Staniak and Fred Yaley.

Richard Rohloff, senior class president, presented the class key to the junior class president, Anita Molien. He reviewed the last term in his address speaking of the difficulties encountered and offered by students and faculty under the campus setup of education.

Miss Molien accepted for the junior class and said that her class would endeavor to attain the high standard set by this year's senior class.

A newspaper theme featured the exercises and was carried out in the class prophecy, class will and class history. The class history was presented by Dorothy Bernat, Mildred Kloeppel, Evelyn Noel and D. Chafce. The class will was given by Suzanne Knorr, Fern Laske and John Homan.

The prophecy was presented by Dolores Poczalska, Betty Ward, Edwin Peterson and Chester Rembleske. Actual direction of the program was done by the theme committee (consisted of Robert Gazecki, chairman, Suzanne Knorr, Jane Strander, Richard DuCharme and Richard Rohloff).

List Committees

Neenah Priest to Observe Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Of His Ordination Sunday

Neenah—The Most Rev. Paul Peter Rhode, D. D., bishop of the Green Bay diocese will be in the sanctuary and the Very Rev. John J. Loerke, pastor, St. John's Catholic church, Green Bay, will preach the sermon when the Rev. Joseph Van Bogart commemorates the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood Sunday at a solemn high mass of thanksgiving in St. Margaret Mary church in Neenah.

Assisting the Rev. Fr. Van Bogart in the mass Sunday will be some of the same priests who served with him at the first mass, 25 years ago March 17. The Rev. Fr. Van Bogart was ordained March 10, 1912 in St. Francis Xavier Cathedral in Green Bay and he said his first mass the following Sunday in St. Mary's church, DePere.

Deacon Of Mass

The Rev. John J. Sprangers, Little Chute, will be deacon of the mass which the Rev. Fr. Van Bogart will celebrate Sunday morning and the Rev. Joseph Gluckstein, New Holstein, will be sub-deacon. The Rev. Abbott H. Pennings, O. Praem, West DePere is to be honorary presbyter assistant.

F. J. Sensenbrenner, Gustave Keller, Appleton and J. A. Kuyper, DePere, all Knights of St. Gregory, will be the guard of honor. Deacons to Bishop Rhode will include the Rev. Frank L. Schuh, Dubuque, Ia., and the Rev. Frank Le Fevre, Plymouth, Mich., who also served at the first solemn high mass of the Rev. Fr. Van Bogart. The Rev. Delbert Basche, Green Bay, chancellor of the diocese, will be master of ceremonies at the mass.

Choir To Sing

As the mass procession begins the celebration of the anniversary Sunday, the St. Margaret Mary choir will sing "Behold the Great High Priest" after which "Exultate Deo" and "Juvavit Dominus" will be sung during the ceremonies.

The recessional selection will be "Let All the Earth Rejoice with Jubilation."

Climaxing the silver anniversary of the Rev. Fr. Van Bogart will be a dinner at noon in the social hall for all the church dignitaries and friends.

The Rev. Fr. Van Bogart served as assistant pastor at Holy Cross church, Kaukauna, Rigerton Catholic church and St. Matthew's church Green Bay, before coming to Neenah.

Offices to End Security Work

Postal Department's Efforts in This Field to Cease June 30

Menasha—The participation of all post offices in social security board work will end June 30, according to Joseph R. Coyle, Menasha postmaster.

After that time, the postmaster said, it will be necessary for those who have not received registration cards to apply direct to the social security board. There still a number of persons in Menasha who have not applied for social security numbers.

Workers in Menasha still have until June 30 to call at the Menasha post office to apply for numbers. The postmaster has advised those who are eligible to call and register. All unemployed who are under impression that they do not have to register until they are put to work are wrong. All should register including workers over 65 years of age, young persons who will soon go to work, part time workers, domestic workers, those who work for municipalities who may sometime change to other industry.

Pass Bill to Give Lake Land to Oshkosh

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—The assembly Tuesday passed and sent to the senate a bill by Assemblyman Leo T. Niemuth of Oshkosh which would turn over to the city of Oshkosh, submerged lands beneath Miller's Bay and the reef known as Horsehoe Island in Lake Winnebago for the erection of a pier and breakwater.

According to Niemuth the city of Oshkosh wants to develop a harbor on the site for navigation purposes, and the bill would give to the city all rights, title and interest in the land enclosing the contemplated harbor. No opposition is anticipated in the senate, where Senator Pierce R. Morrissey of Winnebago county will handle the bill.

Four Dental Clinics Held During Month

Menasha—Four dental clinics were held at Jefferson school during the month of May for Menasha school children, according to the monthly report of Dolores M. Karel, dental hygienist.

During the period, 23 appointments were made and 13 children were completed. A total of 71 notices were sent to parents on children with defective teeth. The nurse attended the Fox River Valley Dental association convention at Appleton May 24 and spoke before the Twin City Visiting Nurses association May 12. In her address she explained the dental hygiene program in Menasha.

alumni book and key, Miss Paulson and Miss Daisy Aker; medals, A. Armstrong; stage arrangements, Miss Isabel Eddle, flower arrangement, Miss Gladys Mahan; and motto, Miss Mahan.

Class colors were blue and white signifying courage, truth and purity. Harmonizing with the colors, the class flower was the white rose indicating a love for the good and pure things of life. The class motto was "Ambition Knows No End."

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Twenty-five years ago March 17, the Rev. Joseph Van Bogart, pastor of St. Margaret Mary's Catholic church, Neenah, said his first solemn high mass in St. Mary's Catholic church, DePere. In commemoration of that event and his ordination to the priesthood which took place March 10, 1912 in St. Francis Xavier Cathedral, Green Bay, the Rev. Fr. Van Bogart will celebrate a solemn mass of thanksgiving at 10:30 Sunday morning, June 13 in St. Margaret Mary church. Assisting him at that mass Sunday will be those who served with him at that first mass, 25 years ago.

Jedwabny's Proposal Stirs Debate in State Senate

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—For the second time this session, John Jedwabny, secretary of the city of Menasha's utilities commission, figured in legislative debates on important power bills.

Tuesday Jedwabny's telegraphic request to several senate leaders for an amendment to the administration's WDA bill precipitated a debate which lasted for half an hour and in the end the proposed amendment was rejected by a vote of 17 to 15.

Under the terms of the Wisconsin Development authority bill, commonly known as the "little TVA," the authority will be empowered to promote or engage in public ownership power development in any part of the state, in urban as well as rural areas. Jedwabny wired Senator Phil Nelson and Senator Joseph Clancy, Republican and Democrat respectively, to suggest an amendment restricting operations of the authority to those areas in which cities, municipal utilities or other non-profit corporations, or rural electric cooperatives requested such operations.

The suggested amendment was introduced by Senator Clancy, Racine, but was bitterly fought by the Progressives on the ground that it would restrict the authority from engaging in the formation of rural electric cooperatives, one of the principal objectives of the bill.

429 Inspections Made During May

Monthly Report of School Nurse Is Presented At Menasha

Menasha—A total of 429 inspections for communicable diseases were made by the school nurse during the month of May, according to the monthly report of Mrs. Sigrid Dudley.

Twenty-two special inspections were made, thirty-eight schools were visited, first aid was administered to twelve persons, sixteen children were recommended for exclusion from school, nineteen temperatures were taken, six skin defects were discovered and eight children were taken home because of illness.

The nurse attended four meetings and held twelve office interviews during the period. Forty-two hours were spent in the field and 128 in schools. She made 74 visits to school children, 54 for non-communicable diseases, 8 for tuberculosis and 12 on other diseases.

Mrs. Dudley spent Sunday, May 16, in charge of the first aid room for the Holy Name rally.

Reject All Bids On Improvement Of Commercial St.

Special Meeting of Council Tonight Will Review Action

Neenah—Bids for improving N. Commercial street were rejected by the committee on public improvements at a meeting last evening and a special meeting of the common council has been called for 7:30 this evening to approve the action of the committee.

Officials said the bids for resurfacing and widening the street from W. North Water street to Nicolet boulevard were rejected because of "an insufficient number of alternative bids to determine the cost of different types of pavement on which bids were requested."

The committee recommends the entire job, with the exception of common labor be let by contract as it is thought a more advantageous bid can be received and will ask authorization of the council at the meeting in the city hall this evening to advertise for bids on that basis.

The new bids to be called for will include removal of present curb and gutter and installation of a 4-foot curb and gutter with the following alternative types of pavement: remove brick and replace with 7-inch reinforced concrete; construct a 1-inch wearing surface, 14-inch binder, sheet asphalt over present brick; 1-inch wearing surface, 14-inch binder, natural rock asphalt pavement over present brick; class J, covering as specified by bureau of public roads.

Object to Bill Providing State Road Patrolmen

Rohan Succeeds in Obtaining Reconsideration
Of Measure

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Because several Wisconsin county boards and the Wisconsin County Boards association have decided they oppose the measure, Assemblyman William Rohan (D), Kaukauna, yesterday carried a motion to reconsider a bill passed by the assembly last week which would appropriate $60,000 to the state highway commission and authorize the employment of 15 additional highway patrolmen to assist local enforcement officers and to patrol state highways.

Rohan obtained adoption of a resolution asking the state senate to return the measure to the lower house for further consideration.

According to Rohan, county boards object to the bill because the state highway patrolmen will work in competition with local officers. The state police would work under state statutes, while county officers function under county ordinance. There would be in conflict with each other according to the communication to the legislature from the Marathon county board, and in addition, the fines levied on offenders arrested by the state officers would be sent to the state treasury, thus causing a loss in county revenue.

According to A. J. Thelen, legislative representative of the county boards association, traffic law enforcement is now adequately taken care of by local and county officers.

Kimberly Chief Appoints Deputy

Dogs Running at Large to Be Shot After Five Days Unless Claimed

Kimberly—Howard Huntington has been appointed deputy by Chief of Police John Bernady. He will help impound dogs. The new deputy will enforce the village ordinance which provides that all dogs running at large in the village will be caught and locked in the old village hall for five days. If the owner does not call in that time and pay a $5 charge the dog will be shot.

W. Mumme of the Kimberly mill will be the speaker at a safety program which will be held at the clubhouse at 12:40 Thursday noon. After the talk by Mr. Mumme a radio will be given away to an employee with a perfect safety record. These programs are held at the clubhouse on the tenth and twenty-fifth of each month in connection with a safety contest.

The Personnel department of the Kimberly mill now has a booklet entitled "Your Personal Record and Rights Under the Social Security Law," for employees. This booklet contains information individuals should have about the federal social security law, and also provides space for keeping record of deductions from pay checks and contributions to the security fund.

Between 300 and 400 persons saw State Senator John Casman, award a medal to Margaret Heuring of the Holy Name school at the Holy Name church Tuesday evening. Margaret won first place in an essay contest conducted throughout the schools in the Outagamie county. Four other students of the Holy Name school won certificates of honorable mention.

Senator Casman discussed the value of education and stated that moral education also is necessary, terming it the basis of all the laws. He said that one thing that is not taught enough is patriotism, which is more than raising the flag in the morning and taking it down at night. Patriotism must not only be taught only in the schools but at home as well, he maintained.

E. F. Young introduced the speaker. A German band composed of John Henry and Joe Dictus, John Frassetto and Amedeo Vande Vyver furnished music. Following the program graduation exercises were held in church. More than sixty students received diplomas.

Board to Meet Again on Zone Ordinance Appeal

Take Testimony but Defers Decision Until Thursday Evening

New London—The settlement of the first case to come before the board of appeals under the new zoning ordinance involves a decision on what is an unreasonable length of time for a store building to be unoccupied and whether the board is justified in exercising leniency in a special case to the interests of the public, according to an interpretation of sections of the ordinance by Francis Werner, lawyer member of the board, at a hearing at the city hall last night.

After half an hour of deliberation with one member absent the board adjourned until 8 o'clock Thursday evening when all members will be present.

The appeal involves the Kimber store building on Division street which has come into the hands of the trust of the First National bank through a foreclosure action and which can be sold for the reestablishment of a retail grocery business. Building Inspector Victor Thomas had denied permission to engage in business because he considered the building unused as a store for an unreasonable length of time.

Store Vacant

Thomas testified the store had been vacant three or four years though some goods were on hand up to two years ago. C. M. Jelliff, on behalf of the trust, pointed out that the building had been used as a store for 40 years up to two years ago and that it was one of the first to be erected in that area, a residential district which excludes the business under the new ordinance. Jelliff asked a fair judgment on the basis of the past history of the store.

John Dickinson testified as a neighborhood resident that land owners and residents in that area favored the return of a business to the store. He declared the store was never vacant but has not been operated because of the inability of Mr. Kimber to do so. The couple still live in the building.

There was discussion among members of the board with Andrew Luck, presiding chairman, of the opinion that to refuse permission would mean confiscation of property which is useless for any other purpose. John Viel favored the granting of business privilege while Fred Morack spoke strongly against it. Francis Werner confined himself to a technical interpretation of the ordinance and questions involved. Inspector Thomas warned against the setting of a precedent. Walter Spiering was the absent member.

Club Considers Team In Men's Ball Loop

New London—The Lions club held a business and informal discussion meeting at the Elwood hotel yesterday afternoon. The possibility of organizing and participating in a business men's softball league with other clubs and organizations as suggested by R. M. Shortell, city recreation director, was considered. A committee named to study the proposition includes Harry E. Allen, G. A. Wells and H. H. Helms. Directors of the club will meet this week.

Swimming Pool Placed in Use

Public to Start Using Facilities at Park in Short Time

New London—The swimming pool at Hatten Memorial park began operation yesterday and will be open to public use as soon as it is approved by the state health inspector. It was announced yesterday by city officials in charge. The inspector was to be at New London today. A snow fence has been erected around the concrete ramp of the pool within the heavy steel enclosure and the chlorinating and filtering apparatus was put in operation yesterday by a company engineer. The bathhouse is ready with 250 numbered clothes baskets installed. Tickets to the pool will be sold in the bathhouse by R. V. Prahl. Unusually cool weather of the past few days has dampened local interest in the final rush of preparations but it is expected the facilities will be fully initiated during the Boy Scout camporee here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Relief Costs in Drop During May

$886 Reduction Brings Cost to Lowest Point For Year

New London—Relief costs in the city of New London hit the lowest figure this year during the month of May with a total outlay of $1,144.39, according to the report released this week by the relief department. The figure is $886.05 below the cost during April and $1,524 less than the expenditures in March.

Seasonal conditions and the fact that all current bills for May were not allowed by the common council because of its meeting the first day of the month accounts largely for the decrease although the number of cases receiving benefits dwindled from 109 in April to 90 last month.

Fuel costs decreased more than $254, from $295.73 in April to $41.55 in May. The only other item affected greatly was groceries which dropped $177.17, from $922.35 to $650.16. Work relief amounted to only $53.75. Transient items remained practically the same with the same number of cases, 20.

Benevolent Society in Meeting at Little Chute

Little Chute—Eight members were present at the monthly meeting of the members of the Benevolent society at the home of Mrs. Frank Weyenberg Monday evening. ## Mrs. Schaller, New London Gold Star Mother, Dies

Had Been Active in Patriotic Church Circles For Years

New London—New London lost one of its remaining Gold Star Mothers when Mrs. Barbara Schaller, 76, died at her home at 504 Maine street at 9:30 Tuesday morning as the result of a stroke last week.

Besides the distinction of being a Gold Star mother, Mrs. Schaller was a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliaries in this city and was active in the Senior sodality of the Most Precious Blood Catholic church and the Christian Mothers society. She was president of the latter group for many years.

Born at Greenville on Jan. 31, 1861, Mrs. Schaller came to New London after her marriage 54 years ago. Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Guy Blondev, New London; two Sisters of St. Agnes at Fond du Lac; Sister Sebastian and Sister Lillian; four sons, Dr. William and Dr. Louis, Milwaukee; Cyril, Lake Geneva; Arthur, Plymouth; one brother, John Knapstein, Sr., Greenville; one sister, Mrs. Ferdin and Reitzner, Dear Creek, eight grandchildren. A son, Theodore, was killed in action on the Argonne front in France during the World war.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at the Most Precious Blood Catholic church with a solemn requiem high mass by the Rev. Paul E. Herb assisted by the Rev. A. Bauer and an outside priest. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The body will be at the residence until the time of the funeral.

Darboy Pupils Given Diplomas at Church

Darboy—The following graduates of Holy Angels school received their diplomas at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning: Arlon Mader, Elizabeth Hupfaut, Arline Hupfaut, Margaret Fischer, Mary Berben, Carmen Hopfensperger, Rosemary Dietzen, Lillian Seegers and Dorothy Vandenberg.

Credit for perfect attendance during the entire school year was given Witke and Mr. and Mrs. John Bleier, Appleton.

Members of the senior Holy Name society of St. John church will receive holy communion in a body at the 7:30 mass Sunday morning at St. John church.

Miss Irene Gloudeomans arrived home Monday evening from Jerome, Ariz., for a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. Arnold Gloudeomans, Canal street.

"All set, sir. Shall we look around a bit here?"

My eyes swept the room. Broken pottery all about, but otherwise normal. One drawer in the table still stood open, and Cook's glasses were in plain sight. If our visitor had come from the muddy drive outside, he must have flown across the kitchen floor. There were no signs of footprints. We went through the two pantries thoroughly. We examined all the closets and table drawers. As a parting shot, I stopped to the back door and opened it. In the light of William's torch, the entry, scene of Anne's incarceration, revealed two startling facts. Just outside the door stood a pile of flower pots, and all over the floor were smears of red clay—the clay of the tennis courts. Anne's bonds and gag still lay where William had dropped them. Mechanically I stooped and picked them up. An ordinary piece of

Mr. and Mrs. George Wittmann spent several days at Milwaukee the last week. While there they attended an open house party for Grace Marie Stehling, who is to be married soon.

Mildred Uttenbroek attended the St. Joseph Academy Alumnae banquet Thursday evening in the fern room of the Columbus club at Green Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal O'Connell of Ft. Worth, Texas, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stumpf Thursday evening and at the Fred and Anna Probst home on Saturday evening. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Schmalz, Harry Stumpf, Joseph Mader, John Fischer, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hupfaut.

John Fischer, Sr., entertained at a family gathering at his home on Sunday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hal O'Connell and daughters Anne and Monnette, of Ft. Worth, Texas; Mrs. Clifford Lewis, Deer Park; Paul Fischer and daughter Elaine, Berlin; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwalbach, Mrs. Hannah Fischer and daughters, Mary and Margaret, and Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Schmalz and family, Darboy.

Mrs. Charles Grode is critically ill at St. Elizabeth hospital where she submitted to a major operation on Thursday morning.

Edward Wallace, Oshkosh, is spending several days here the guest of his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Verfurth, Milwaukee, spent several days here with Mrs. Mary Orth and son, John.

clothesline, one end of it freshly cut, and a handkerchief of fine white linen, embroidered and hand-made. The sort of thing a man's maiden aunt might give him, I thought with a chuckle. But the laugh froze on my lips.

Daintily stitched in one corner of that handkerchief was the name, "Michael Farrington." As I stared in horror at the thing, the bell in the kitchen sounded the Skipper's signal.

William's voice called me from my trance. "Nothing out here, sir." I'm afraid my "No" was rather weak. I was trying to think—trying to forget that I was dealing with Michael and his family—trying to function as if I were merely considering fiction for a grisly-minded public. Would it have been possible for Michael to have caused that mess in the kitchen? Anyone in the party, Cook, Anne and myself excepted, could have been the prowler in the upper hall. Any one of them could have sneaked down the servants' staircase and handled Anne. The handkerchief pointed to Michael.

But the affair with Cook was peculiar. If logic had anything to do with it, Cook must have screamed just before the flower pot struck her. And when we heard that scream, every member of the party but William and the victims had been in the room with me.

One glance at William assured me that he really had been shaving. Part of his face glinted like an apple, and the rest was encased in a brief but decided stubble. It flashed across my mind that in fiction William would most certainly be guilty. The most innocent seeming and the most helpful is any author's villain. But I wrote that sort of thing. I didn't believe it. Still, it was possible that the ladder might have been applied and partially removed while Cook was slumbering peacefully on her "sofy."

Birthday Party Given At Leeman Residence

Leeman—Relatives of Mrs. Agnes Southard gathered at her home here Sunday, her birthday anniversary. The time was spent socially and a picnic dinner was served at noon. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith and daughters Jean and Maxine, Sugar Bush; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Werth and son Ward, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Ward Southard, daughters, Bernadine and Ramona, and son, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stedji, New London; Mrs. Clara Pooler, Crandon; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frye, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Peters and daughter, Shirley, Black Creek; Gordon and Norman Gear, Oshkosh; Delbert Marx of Chicago is spending a two-week vacation at the home of his sister, Mrs. Fred Falk and other relatives in Appleton and Menasha.

Nurse Speaks at Rotary Club Meet

Stresses Importance of Preventing Spread of Tuberculosis

Clintonville—Miss Estelle Jung, Waupaca county nurse, was the speaker at the Monday noon luncheon of the Rotary club at Hotel Marston. Miss Jung told of her work in the county and stressed the importance of preventing the spread of tuberculosis. She also spoke of the advantages of having a city nurse in a city of this size.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Miller and son, Boone, have left on an extended trip through the east. They are spending this week in Pittsburgh and Washington, D. C., from where they will go to Quebec and Toronto, Canada. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Miss Ida Robertson, office assistant to Dr. E. A. Miller, is spending this week on a vacation. She spent the first part of the week with relatives at Oshkosh and later went to Milwaukee and Madison.

Earl Hedtke, Miss Myrene Fillmore, Mrs. Gust Fillmore, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hedtke and daughters, Phyllis and Faye spent Sunday in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hayden arrived from Los Angeles, Calif., where they spent the last winter.

Grain Prices are Easier in Late Chicago Trading

Earlier Sharp Advances Reduced Near Close Of Transactions

Chicago—(U)—With the United States government June crop report expected tomorrow acting as a restraint, price setbacks from earlier sharp gains characterized wheat trading late today.

An opposite late factor, though, was notice taken of an unofficial trade agreement that 5,000,000 acres of wheat in Saskatchewan, Canada, will not average 5 bushels an acre yield. On the other hand, the tenor of various domestic weekly state crop reports today was generally favorable.

At the close, wheat was 1/2 to 1 cent above yesterday's finish, July 1.09 1/2, Sept. 1.09 1/2, corn unchanged to 1/16 lower, July 1.13 1/2, Sept. 1.03 1/2, oats varying from 1/16 decline to 1 cent advance.

Defer Action on Bids For Work at Courthouse

The buildings and grounds committee Tuesday deferred action on bids for plumbing changes on the second floor of the courthouse and for provision of additional record storage space in the register of deeds office. Action will be taken at a meeting June 14.

The committee approved bills totaling about 800, authorized repair of books in the register of deeds office and law library at a total cost of $186.50, ordered the county clerk to purchase a tax roll file for the treasurer's office from Sylvester-Nelson at $36.70 and authorized a contract with the Scharpf Typewriter company of Oshkosh for repair and quarterly inspection of courthouse typewriters at $4 a machine for the year.

Hatten Estate Fight Is Opened In Waupaca Court

Woodin farm. He accompanied the Woodins to Washington territory later, but returned to Appleton at Oshkosh and remained there when the Woodins moved to Chicago in 1874.

In 1876, Hardgrove said, Hatten bought some property in Manawa under the name of William Woodin. The Woodins moved to Manawa about that time.

In February 1877 a petition for appointment of C. M. Bright as guardian of Hatten was drawn in the writing of Winfield Scott, county judge, and two days later a petition for adoption of Hatten by the Woodins was signed by Bright, the attorney said.

Evidence of the adoption has been found in a record book, the attorney reported. He also stated that when David Woodin died, his will provided that his fourth wife, Ellen, have a life estate in all his property but that upon her death or remarriage the estate be divided among all his children and Hatten was named as one of them.

Named in Petition

Hardgrove also maintained that in 1888 Julius Woodin filed a petition in his father's estate naming Hatten as one of the heirs and that in 1889 Hatten gave a receipt for his share of the estate. In 1899, in Lincoln county, Washington territory, Julius Woodin filed final papers in the David Woodin estate which also listed Hatten as one of the heirs, the attorney stated.

He also spent some time tracing the relationship to the Woodin family of some of the present claimants.

The 14 seeking to share in the estate as heirs of the Woodins are Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mrs. F. A. Withers, Mrs. Elsie Sterrett, Alvin L. Woodin, Willard Brown, David M. Withers, Harriet Brown, Roy Withers, Frank A. Withers, Clark Withers, Roscoe, Melvin, Luther and Ralph E. Smith.

The hearing, which began about 11 o'clock this morning, was adjourned at noon but was resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Erratic Tendencies in Trade on Curb Market

New York—(U)—The curb market was a rambling affair today, showing uneven movements in all leading groups. Trading was light. Niagara Hudson Power and Standard Oil of New York advanced a little while American Gas and Electric and United Gas declined. Pittsburgh Plate Glass, selling dividend, rose about 2 in the late trading.

North American Rayon "A" and Niles-Bement-Pond also scored good gains.

Kaukauna High School Alumni Group Gathers

Dance Tonight Will Mark Close of Annual Reunion Event

Kaukauna—Former graduates of Kaukauna High school gathered here today for the annual reunion of the Alumni Association. Registration opened this afternoon in the gymnasium and tours about the city were planned for out-of-town guests.

A reception will be held in the gymnasium at 7:30 tonight and at 8 o'clock the program will begin. Miss Margaret C. McMahon, principal of the Franklin Junior high school in Green Bay and a graduate of this high school, will be the principal speaker. Her subject will be "Reflections and Recollections."

The hour's program will be opened by the address of welcome given by Joseph McCarthy, association president. "Alumni Greetings to the Class of 1937" is the title of the talk which will be given by Elmer Otte of the 1928 class. Arnold Otto, Milwaukee attorney and program speaker, has chosen "Comments of An Alumnus" as his subject.

Mary Main, class of 1936, will play a piano solo, "Claire De Lune" by De Bussey. Alumni membership cards will be distributed by Clifford Kemp.

Following the program, members of the association and their friends, and 1937 graduates will attend a dance in the high school gymnasium at which an 8-piece band from Manitowish will play and street clothing will be worn. One corner of the gymnasium will be converted into a lounge and refreshments will be sold.

Municipal Pool Opened for Use

List Schedule of Hours for Using Swimming Facilities

Kaukauna—The swimming pool in the municipal building has been opened and hours for this first week are from 3 o'clock to 4:30 in the afternoon. Clifford Kemp, recreational director, announced yesterday. Saturday morning the pool will be reserved for boys from 9:30 until 11:30.

The summer schedule will go into effect next week and the hours are as follows: Monday, Wednesday, Friday afternoons from 1:15 to 4 o'clock; Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30; boys, Monday night, 7 o'clock to 8 men.

In order to swim during the evening hours reserved for adults, a person must be at least 18 years of age.

Three life guards have been placed at the fourth lock. The swimming schedule there each day is as follows: 9 o'clock to noon in the morning, 12:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon, and 6 o'clock to 8:30 in the evening.

Juniors, Freshmen Win Softball Title

Kaukauna—The junior and freshman girls' softball teams are co-winners of the high school intramural championship, each with two games won and two lost.

The senior and sophomore teams had identical records, too, one victory and three defeats. Games were played in the afternoon on the library playgrounds. Mary Alice Flanagan was captain of the freshman team and Marie Rademacher headed the juniors.

Items of Interest to Royallon Residents

Royalton—Mrs. Marie Thompson and children of Weyauwega have moved into the Thomach house in the Hobart district.

Miss Lettie Ritchie, who has been ill at the home of her cousins in Ripon the last seven months, returned to her home on Sunday.

Olivia of Highway 54 through the village began on Saturday.

The Altar Guild will meet with Mrs. John Kelley on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Stadler and Mrs. Cyril Martin will be the assisting hostesses.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. Don Anderson is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers are not delivered.

NEVER ABSENT OR TARDY

Here are two rural school pupils who have completed eighth grade studies with records of perfect attendance during their entire eight years in school. At the left is Bernice, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Schaumburg, route 3, Seymour, who never missed a day at the Idlewild school, town of Seymour, and at the right is George, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Scott, route 3, Black Creek, who made a perfect record at the Riverview school, town of Cicero. Miss Ruth Barclay is teacher at the Idlewild school and Miss Blanche McIntyre at the Riverview school.

910 Children Immunized Against Two Diseases

Kaukauna—A total of 910 pre-school and grade school children were vaccinated against smallpox and 602 given toxin anti-toxin for immunization against diphtheria in clinics held here last week, according to a report made public yesterday by Miss Ceil Flynn, city nurse. The seven physicians in the city had charge of the clinics.

Children of pre-school age were treated at Park school on the North side and at St. Mary's school on the South side. At Park, 99 were vaccinated and 102 given toxin and at St. Mary's the numbers were 150 and 159 respectively.

In the report on grade school children given by schools, the first figure represents the number vaccinated and the second those to whom toxin anti-toxin was administered. The report follows:

Lutheran school, 20, 8; Outagamie Rural Normal school, 12, 11; Holy Cross, 117, 77; Nicolet, 99, 58; Park, 116, 101; St. Mary's, 297, 86. Many of the younger children were treated at home. The following women assisted the doctors in the clinics: Mrs. William Buchberger, Mrs. Henry Olm, Mrs. Otto Ludtke, Miss Laura Gilman, Miss Anna Niesz, Miss Lillian Spice, and Miss Flynn.

Plan First of Series of Summer Concerts

Kaukauna—The first of a series of summer concerts will be given by the high school band some night next week in LaFollette park. Clarence Kriesa, band director, said yesterday.

Two soloists, Margaret Van Lieshout and Elda Bloy, will be presented and popular music featured. The band is composed of 45 pieces.

New London Team to Play Kaukauna Girls

Kaukauna—The girls' softball team from this city will play the New London team next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the library field. Batteries for the local team will be Wiesler, Panabaker, and Ludtke.

Commission Waits For Legal Advice To End Argument

Appointment of New Fire Police Board Members Starts Controversy

Kaukauna—Uncertainty over the legality of the appointment of Charles Curry and Jacob Miller as fire and police commissioners by Mayor John H. Niesen last night caused the fire and police commission to defer the appointment of two new policemen.

The commission accepted a written request by Mayor Niesen to defer action until legal opinion was delivered regarding the right of Curry and Miller to replace William Breier and Arthur Kromer on the commission.

Last night's meeting was called by Mike Gerhart, chairman, who said he had received no official notice of appointment of the two new commissioners. Gerhart said "We are going directly to the attorney general for advice on this matter."

Mayor Niesen said this morning that when appointments were made in the past the commission was given no official notice of the action.

"When I appointed Gerhart himself, I gave no notice but merely announced my action before the city council," the mayor said.

The commission also sought information as to whether the appointments had been confirmed by the city council.

Curry and Miller did not attend last night's meeting.

Conservation Club To Plan Activities

Kaukauna—Plans for autumn activities will be outlined and the date for the trip to the state game farm at Poyntette will be set at a meeting of the Kaukauna Conservation club Friday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building.

Arrangements for care of the pheasant chicks which will be shipped here next week from the state conservation department will be made at the meeting. The chicks will be raised in a pen at the Alex Conkey farm and liberated on reserves nearby when they are about six weeks old.

Junior Prom Decorations Have Served Many Events

Kaukauna—When the junior class at Kaukauna High school was decorating the gymnasium for the Junior prom in April, they probably didn't realize that their grape arbor would set some kind of a record for usefulness.

On the night of April 16, the students and townspeople attended the prom and danced underneath the white lattice ceiling and bunches of balloons resembling grape clusters. A week later, the high school pupils held a post-prom dance. Apparently the decorations were ready for dismantling.

But, at the request of the Kaukauna Woman's club, the grape arbor was left untouched and provided the setting for a luncheon given during the eighth district convention of women's clubs last month.

Last night's meeting was called by Mike Gerhart, chairman, who said he had received no official notice of appointment of the two new commissioners. Gerhart said "We are going directly to the attorney general for advice on this matter."

Mayor Niesen said this morning that when appointments were made in the past the commission was given no official notice of the action.

"When I appointed Gerhart himself, I gave no notice but merely announced my action before the city council," the mayor said.

The commission also sought information as to whether the appointments had been confirmed by the city council.

Curry and Miller did not attend last night's meeting.

Last week a Boy Scout rally was held in the gym. The shriveled balloons have been inflated again. Gray streamers of white paper put back in place, and tonight the high school Alumni association is having its dance there, almost two months after the decorations were first used.

A high school janitor asserted yesterday, however, that the grape arbor would have to give way to next year's basketball team.
